

Rush Limbaugh, R.I.P.

Most readers under the age of 40 probably can't imagine this, but prior to Rush Limbaugh, the conservative political movement was like a voice crying in the wilderness. There were National Review, Human Events, and a few "think-tanks," but the fraudulent narratives concocted by the Pharisees of the Jews' Media were essentially the only game in town.

The enormous success of Rush Limbaugh's 50 million listeners and 700 affiliated stations each week emboldened other pioneers, not the least of which was Fox News. Things have never been quite the same since these two voices began introducing facts, evidence, logic and accuracy into the arena of opinion journalism.

No longer could the fraudulent and biased narratives of the Jews' Media be used to stifle all other competing points of view. They have never been able to generate fake news with the same degree of success, and never forgave either Rush Limbaugh or Fox News for the loss of their monopoly and their declining ability to manipulate public opinion with carefully crafted lies that serve the international socialist movement.

If America manages to survive the treachery within our midst, Rush Limbaugh will deserve the credit as surely as Joe McCarthy, Donald Trump, and Ronald Reagan. Rush was to America's political debate what Patton's Third Army was to "The Battle of the Bulge." Rush deserved the Presidential Medal of Freedom as much as any other recipient, and perhaps more so.

At various times Rush has claimed to be more than 99% correct: I don't know how that particular statistic is generated, but I DO know that just about anything Rush Limbaugh ever stated as fact was something his listeners "could take to the bank." On the rare occasions when he was wrong, he apologized like the classy guy he was.

One prediction he made on his radio show really stands out: In early 2018, Rush predicted (paraphrase) that when all the facts are in about Obama Administration holdovers attempting a coup against candidate and then President Donald Trump, the evidence will prove that the phony 'Steele Dossier' was the sole basis for all four FISA Warrants used to spy on Trump as a candidate, and later as president.

This was really sticking his neck out, because incontrovertible evidence was at least two years away in the form of the Mueller Report, the Justice Department's Inspector General's Report, the FISA Court's Report of fraud perpetrated on it by the DOJ and FBI, and the conclusive proof that would ultimately have appeared in the Durham Report.

When my cardiologist kept me waiting for 45 minutes on my annual visit in March of 2019, I jokingly accused him of making me miss Rush Limbaugh. His reply was that I was "wasting my time listening to that guy." When questioned, however, he conceded he had never actually listened to "The Rush Limbaugh Show."

My doctor's response is a fairly common phenomenon: That is, there are many people who've been conditioned by the Jews' Media to denigrate Rush, despite never having actually listened to a minute of his show. It's kind of alarming how otherwise intelligent people are reliant upon the Corrupt Leftist Media for their filtered news and fraudulent commentary, a most unreliable source as history has routinely demonstrated.

Here's a true story involving someone who actually listened to the Rush Limbaugh Show on a daily basis for several years. It's an anecdote I once sent to Rush in an e-mail:

For 30 years, I rehabbed and rented residential property in north St. Louis. In the first few years, five or six of my tenants were murdered by other blacks, so you can visualize the kind of neighborhood and environment in which we worked and in which I owned property.

I couldn't have done it without an illegal handgun and my trusty and loyal Residential Manager, an "old school" black man named Ozell who is now deceased. He grew up in dire poverty in West Memphis, Arkansas, and was both illiterate and innumerate.

He could not spell his surname -- "Garner" -- because he would leave out both "Rs." Yet, he was extremely industrious and had an exceptional memory that tended to compensate for my own. He was also honest, and collected my cash rents without a problem for the 30 years prior to his death. After 25 years working together on a daily basis, he became a brother.

In the early-1990s, I started listening to The Rush Limbaugh Show every workday. Ozell would listen intently, because he was one of those people who must rely primarily on the spoken word to learn. The Rush Limbaugh Show also made the workday go by faster for both of us.

He never voted because of the potential embarrassment stemming from his illiteracy and the fact that voting would have required assistance at the polls. (He was a very proud man.)

He also couldn't vote because of a felony conviction for a 2nd degree burglary 30 years before, when he broke into a former girlfriend's apartment to recover something he had given her as a gift before she "dumped" him. He recognized that he didn't always make good decisions.

Around 2000 I asked Ozell for whom he would vote for President if he could vote? His answer-- without hesitation -- was "RUSH LIMBAUGH!"

Just as General Lee lost his "right arm" at Chancellorsville, the conservative movement has lost its Stonewall Jackson with the death of Rush Limbaugh. May he rest in peace after so many pitched battles.
