

Black Serial Murderers

By Earl P. Holt III

It was always puzzling to knowledgeable whites why, for decades, the FBI was able to successfully identify and arrest so many white serial killers and so few black serial killers. FBI spokesmen often parroted the party-line that “most serial-killers are white.” This was especially galling since blacks are practically synonymous with violent crime in the U.S., and murder in particular.

One explanation for this paradox is that FBI profiling hit its stride in the 1990s when Bill Clinton was President. Doubtless, the enablers of black violent crime – the entire “Democrat” Party – brought pressure on the FBI to turn a blind eye toward black misbehavior of every kind, so the subject of black serial killers was studiously ignored by the “Justice” Department.

The fact that race and identity politics directed much of the Clinton Administration’s activities was evident in its practice of combining crimes committed by Hispanics with crimes committed by whites under the same category in the FBI’s Uniform Crime Reports (UCRs.) Violent crimes committed by both groups were lumped together under the heading “White Offenders.”

This was clearly done to falsely attribute to whites many of the violent crimes actually committed by Hispanics. Their motivation was to artificially inflate the category of white violent crimes, which helped to camouflage the disparity between the far lower rate of white violent crimes and the far more ubiquitous incidents of black violent crime.

Another factor that suppressed the FBI's statistics surrounding black serial killers is the anonymous and "nocturnal" nature of black crime, which literally "comes out at night like the stars."

In pursuing their nefarious nocturnal activities – such as drug deals, burglaries, prostitution and auto-theft -- black "night-crawlers" are far less likely to be detected or identified by witnesses. In such a jungle-like sub-culture, many serial killers found it easy to move about at will and satisfy their blood-lust and sexual appetites without detection.

In any event, the FBI no longer seems to parrot its old and familiar lie about most serial killers being white. In fact -- just as one would expect -- it turns out blacks are just as prominent among the ranks of serial killers as they are among the ranks of garden-variety murderers.

Below is a list of black serial killers that I've been able to compile just from the occasional internet news item, or non-fiction cable TV crime show such as Forensic Files. These were my sources because -- as everyone with a three-digit I.Q. knows -- the Jews' Media studiously ignores and censors incidents of black violent crime -- particularly black-on-white murder -- and has done so for decades.

The FBI and Justice Department should feel free to avail themselves of this roster of black serial killers, which I have managed to compile without any staff or budget:
