A WORD ABOUT MEMBERSHIP:

All Membership Fees, Renewals and questions regarding INFORMER subscriptions should be sent to our Potosi, Missouri P.O. Box. (Below)

If you receive a Member Renewal, but are currently paid-up for the calendar year, just ignore it. Sometimes there's a delay between the receipt of a Renewal and its inclusion in the Membership Rolls, so occasional "double-billing" can occur. PLEASE DO NOT use a Self-Addressed-Stamped-Envelope to inform us of this fact.

POSTSCRIPT ABOUT THE CITIZENS INFORMER:

Each CITIZENS INFORMER currently costs about $2.50 to print and mail. If a copy is returned to us by the Postal Service, the additional cost of each returned copy is about $1.50.

For this reason, we strongly urge Members who are equipped to do so, to receive the Electronic Edition as e-mail.

The advantage to the organization is that it costs nothing to print or mail an issue using e-mail. If everyone would do this, we could dramatically reduce the cost of Renewals, since the paper is by far our largest expense. One advantage to Members of subscribing electronically is that they will often receive their paper a week or more in advance of those delivered by the Postal Service.

A second advantage is that future Electronic Editions will often have additional articles and Letters to the Editor, since it does not have the space limitations of the Hard Copy Edition. THE BONUS SECTION BEGINS ON PDF PAGE 41

PLEASE DO NOT EVER SEND US A LETTER INDICATING YOU DO NOT WISH TO RECEIVE THE E-MAIL EDITION OF THE PAPER: We assume only those submitting the blue form wish to receive the "e-mail" edition, and all others wish to receive the "hard-copy" edition.

About time you became a member?

All members of the CofCC receive a subscription to the Citizens Informer newspaper and more.

Please Check One:

- () One Year Membership / Renewal $36
- () Two Year Membership / Renewal $60
- () Five Year Membership / Renewal $125
- () Lifetime Membership $500

All life members will receive a special life membership certificate, suitable for framing, a gold Life Membership Card (laminated) and a CofCC lapel pin.

Organizational Details

By Earl P. Holt III

2019 Renewals: There are approximately 70 Members who have yet to renew their Memberships in 2019. Some may be ill or even deceased. If you are one of the 70, please contact me and indicate whether you wish to remain in the organization or not. Otherwise, I must delete your name from the CofCC Membership List in early January. I've sent out two Member Renewals in 2019, but do not intend to mail any more.

Irrepressible Joe Arpaio: There may only be one guy in this country with as much "brass" as our President and that's Joe Arpaio, who served for 24 years as Sheriff of Maricopa County, Arizona and as a high-level Drug Enforcement Administration agent before that. At 87, he's running for Maricopa County Sheriff again, only this time without interference from corrupt nigs to sabotage his election like former Attorney General Eric Holder. For those wishing to contribute: Joe Arapio for Sheriff, 100 West Washington, Suite 1900, Phoenix, AZ: 85003.

2020 Election Strategy: Individuals who pose a significant threat to the electoral prospects of the "Democrat" Party have a tendency to "wake up dead" (to borrow a line from Charley Pride,) much like Vince Foster, Ron Brown, Jim McDougal and Seth Rich. So, in the event that Joe Biden has not been "snuffed" by the time your state holds its 2020 Primary Elections, my suggestion is to take a "Democrat" Primary Ballot and then vote for Biden. That is, unless some RINO in your Congressional Delegation has a serious primary challenger offering a real opportunity to rid us of another worthless RINO in Congress.

Biden is the dumbest sonofabitch to ever serve in a major public office, and he is now both senile and corrupt, as well. Yet, if he should become the "Democrat" nominee, Trump will wipe the floor with him and bring home a greater electoral landslide than he did in 2016. Biden never had an ounce of brains, and is now hapless and confused: But, compared to the rest of his rivals in the Democrat Primary, he is Churchillian.

One of those rivals of Biden is Elizabeth Warren, Harvard Law's answer to the late comedian, Professor Irwin Corey: Neither ever made an iota of sense in their entire careers. However, Pocahontas is more verbally agile than Biden, and she has the added advantage that "Democrat" IQs are so low, few are able to recognize that she is a pathological liar.

Essay Contest: For some time I have planned to encourage young writers with an essay contest sponsored by the CofCC. The details are on page 36. If you know of a bright and talented high school student, I would appreciate your bringing this contest to their attention. Not only will their identity be kept confidential, but they may very well be able to eventually re-use their essay in a college course where one is required.

Facebook Censorship: Lee Duigon, one of our favorite commentators, has been censored by Facebook for writing a commentary on homos that was not flattering to his subject matter. His response can be found on page 34. This proves my point that ANYONE WHO USES SOCIAL MEDIA IS CONTRIBUTING TO THE DEMISE OF OUR RACE, NATION AND CIVILIZATION. Most social media organs are every bit as dishonest, biased, arbitrary and capricious as the NEW YORK TIMES. The big difference is that social media has some sort of immunity, earlier granted by our brilliant and "visionary" Congress.

Emergency Border Wall Funding: On September 25, the Senate voted to end President Trump's declaration of an emergency on our southern border, just as the House passed an identical Bill in March. This Act of Congress was designed to overturn an Executive Act by President Trump that allowed him to divert funds from the Defense Budget to build the border wall. If President Trump's inevitable veto experiences an "over-ride," it will prevent him from using any additional Defense Budget funds to build the border wall.

11 ostensibly "Republican" Senators voted with the New Marxist Party across the aisle and against President

Trump. These 11 RINOs are the best Senators that K Street's pro-immigration lobbyist money can buy. The 11 RINOs are Lamar Alexander (TN,) Roy Blunt (MO,) Susan Collins (ME,) Mike Lee (UT,) Jerry Moran (KS,) Lisa Murkowski (AK,) Rand Paul (KY,) Rob Portman (OH,) Mitt Romney (UT,) Pat Toomey (PA,) and Roger Wicker (MS.)

Susan Collins is the only one running for reelection in 2020, and Lamar Alexander is finally retiring (and good riddance to that!) May I suggest that since all these RINOS are useless and have made a practice of betraying President Trump at every opportunity, real patriots should never forget their betrayal, and vote against them in their primaries if and when they eventually run for reelection and have a legitimate challenger.

Know Thine Enemy

By Valerie Protopapas

Postmodernism: a movement developed in the mid-20th century encompassing a wide variety of approaches and disciplines . . . defined by an attitude of skepticism, irony, and/or rejection of the grand narratives and ideologies of modernism, often calling into question Enlightenment rationality. . . Common targets of postmodern critique include universalist notions of objective reality, morality, truth, human nature, reason, science, language and social progress. Wikipedia

At 78, I continue to be horrified at how crude and vicious society has become. Of course, it has been worse at other times. After all, killing people with whom one disagrees is the ultimate expression of "bad manners!" But other than a shooting war, in the West at least, people used to be able to "disagree" without resorting to violence or threats thereof. Today? Well, not so much!

Worse, society has abandoned not just commonsense, but the rules of economics and physics as well as verified and acknowledged history! The first humans out of the trees had more in the way of accurate history than do we! Earlier, there were those who "interpreted" historical facts to suit themselves, but bad as that was, today we are ABANDONING facts in order to forward agendas!

Back in the day, ordinary people would laugh with scorn at philosophers, academics and wise people (we are no longer permitted to indicate gender!) who spout this god-awful nonsense: But today? Again, not so much. In other words, the foundation of human interaction has been damaged to the point at which it no longer transpires without a great deal of rabid hysteria!

To have any hope for the future, we have to know the causal agent of the present condition of the body politic just as a physician has to know the causal agent of an illness in the body physical. Now, I am happy to report—sort of—that we have identified that agent but I fear that it may be beyond our ability to "cure." The agent is, as you may guess from the above definition, Postmodernism.

Links are provided at the end of this article for three videos by Professor Jordan Peterson, a man of great intelligence, honesty and ability who will therefore soon be silenced by the culture he rejects. In a quick overview of his points, the Postmodernists abandoned their OPEN support of Marxism in the 1970s because the evils of that system were so readily apparent in the U.S.S.R. that they could no longer be denied or hidden. Though they still cling to Marx, Postmodernists have changed the axiom from Worker against Capitalist to Oppressed against Oppressor, as is OBVIOUS in today's culture with its kaleidoscope of victim groups.

Again, according to Peterson, the aim of Postmodernists is the accumulation of POWER while the human face of the movement is RESENTMENT! Can anyone look at the faces of the Left shown in the media everyday and NOT recognize this fact? Of course, there can be NO human or social relationship with the resentful! They are full of pride, hate and envy (three VERY deadly sins!) and no attempt to placate or find common ground with them is therefore possible. All that they will accept is our destruction and even that won't truly satisfy them.

But why can't we "cure" the Postmodernists? Because, as noted in the definition, they reject all things related to Western Civilization such as objective truth, morality, science and language, along with REASON and LOGIC! In other words, they reject everything that makes us "human" and creates a human culture! They "think" in the same fashion as a virus or an amoeba. You might well say that neither of these actually "think"—and you'd be correct! Postmodern "thought" consists of non-objective chaos from which no culture can arise or be sustained. A cannibal on a desert isle is a veritable Plato compared to these "thinkers."

The question then must be HOW DID POSTMODERNISM BECOME SO POWERFUL IN THE WEST? It began in academia (as all such horrid things do) and by the second decade of the 21st century, Postmodernist "thinkers" have conquered our citadels of learning and invaded all of our disciplines and ensconced themselves in the upper reaches of all the bureaucracies of government at the highest levels. In other words, like that virus or amoeba, they have given the body politic a fatal illness, and what we see today is the beginnings of a final descent of Western Civilization into the hellish void prepared for it by those who worship at the altar of emptiness.

Religion Editor's Column

Aliens or Nationals

By Dr. Ed DeVries

In Matthew's gospel, chapter 17, verses 25-26, the Apostle records an interesting conversation between Our Lord and the Apostle Peter:

What thinkest thou, Simon? of whom do the kings of the earth take custom or tribute? of their own children, or of strangers?

26 Peter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free?

The context of the conversation was the fact that a tax collector had just come in an effort to collect taxes from Jesus. Peter was willing to pay the tax, Jesus on the other hand, was not. Peter, like most Americans, saw the payment of taxes as "routine." Jesus on the other hand, was offended.

The reason why Jesus was offended was because, in the ancient world, governments did not tax their citizens. Instead, governments collected taxes from conquered peoples outside their "nation of peoples," tariffs from imports being shipped into the country, or from legal or illegal aliens passing through their borders, etc. So by attempting to collect a tax from Jesus, the tax-collector was essentially treating Him as an "alien" or as a foreigner rather than as a citizen.

In the beginning of our American nation, the founding fathers cited our Lord's words from Matthew's gospel as their reason for not instituting an income tax or any other tax upon the citizens of this nation. Your re-reading of the Constitution will refresh your memory that the Federal Government is to collect its taxes from duties and tariffs. Or in other words, the founding fathers chose to tax those foreigners with whom they traded, and not the citizens of their own nation.

So why is it that Americans in general -- and white Americans in particular -- increasingly feel as though they are being treated as aliens in their own nation?

For example, Congresswoman Alexandria Ocasio Cortez (AOC) recently made the statement on CNN that "no child should ever be separated from its parents, ever!" She of course made that statement at a border detention facility in reference to the possibility of foreign children being intentionally separated from their foreign parents while attempting to cross the border into our country illegally.

AOC seems to have absolutely no problem with the nearly 100,000 American children that her home state of New York will intentionally separate from their citizen-parents each year. This is but one example.

Another that comes to mind was the incident back in 2017 when A 19 year old Chicago woman who live-streamed a hate crime that included kidnapping, torture and mutilation of a white teen was given 200 hours of community service and four years of probation.

This amazingly light sentence was passed down by a black Muslim judge who, because the victim was white, refused to consider it a "hate crime." In fact, the prosecutor, the judge, and the media insisted that the victim was chosen because he was "disabled" and not because he was white. Of course, the racial slurs hurled at the victim proved otherwise. No doubt Judge William Hook was just equalizing the "underrepresentation" of the criminals and the "privilege" of the victim.

Have you been the victim of a "Traffic stop" recently? To put it bluntly, as white Americans, we can't help but feel that our own country is waging a campaign of aggressive discrimination against us, its own indigenous population.

In the name of cultural diversity, the United States through its various bureaucracies, police, and education system is attacking anything white or traditionally American. The mainstream public – the majority of whom are White Americans -- are treated with contempt, their rights ignored and their history trashed in their own land. White Americans have become second-class citizens.

Cultural genocide masquerading as "multiculturalism" is rationalized by government agencies, some law enforcement, public school teachers and others on the grounds that minorities are "under-represented" in the workforce, schools, and public office. Now, any interaction with a policeman or "public servant" involves a detailed consideration of one's "ethnic status" and sometimes fatally so!

Although it is technically illegal to "discriminate" against any ethnic group – a prohibition that SHOULD include whites -- our race commissars have found a way around that problem by developing scholarships, training programs, and any number of "entitlements" open only to minorities. These programs are always dressed up as "positive" or "affirmative" action designed to "level the playing field" and promote diversity.

Black cops cruise our streets looking for white motorists to "pull over" while the agencies they work for routinely reject hundreds of applications from white men on the grounds that they were already "over-represented" in the force. The same is true for fire departments.

In addition, there was the incredible statement by Obama's Attorney General Eric Holder that white Americans were not "covered" under the civil rights laws! It would astonish the Framers that ANY group in this country was considered "outside the law," at least when the purpose of the law was to PROTECT!

Isn't it ironic that the Democrat Party -- which regularly works itself into a rage over blatant racial prejudice -- leads the perverted ideology of anti-white racism.

And anti-American, anti-white discrimination is the central plank of the propaganda for mass immigration. Having failed to change our nation through economic revolution, the Marxists within have seized on mass immigration and multiculturalism as a battering ram to destroy what's left of our civil society.

George Orwell, author of the classics 1984 and Animal Farm once wrote: "England is perhaps the only great country whose intellectuals are ashamed of their own nationality. In Left-wing circles, it is always felt that there is something slightly disgraceful in being an Englishman and that it is a duty to snigger at every English institution."

That is now precisely the mentality that predominates within "the swamp," the halls of government and bureaucratic machinery of the United States. And our nation is dying as a result. Jesus did not hesitate to speak truth to power in His day. His words are just as powerful and just as needed today!

Defining Who We Are

By Dr. Adrian Krieg

For many decades, we have allowed our opponents to define who we are. This is no small matter because such definitions can establish an indelible impression on society that is both destructive and permanent.

One practitioner of this process is the UK-based Tavistock Institute of Human Behavior. The Institute was founded in the late 40s as an adjunct to Britain's MI-5 & MI-6 intelligence services. It was also allied with the U.S. Office of Strategic Services (OSS,) which was later reorganized under President Truman as the Central Intelligence Agency.

Reorganization of the CIA was necessary because it was riddled with communists, much like the British security services and the French Maquis. It should come as no surprise that The Rockefeller Foundation was a large financial contributor to the founding of Tavistock.

Many will stop reading at this point because they think this to be merely a trivial historical exercise, but they would be very much mistaken. Tavistock's influence in changing our society has been profound.

The Tavistock Institute is responsible for popularizing the use of many euphemisms that have gained currency in the popular vernacular, such as "assault" (semi-auto) rifles, "homophobe" (fearful of homosexuals), "gay" (a reference to homosexuals), "freedom fighters" (communist guerillas), and the mythical condition known as "white skin privilege."

Older phrases, particularly some in the queer community like "coming out of the closet" all came out of the late 1940s with the establishment of Tavistock. Black Lives Matter, La Raza and other non-whites are apparently immune: However, the impact on society of these words and phrases has encouraged an entirely different way of perceiving things among the general population.

It is a truism that the side that "defines" an issue usually OWNS that issue, a fact that became obvious during the abortion "rights" battle. Here, the left successfully labelled their enemies with the negative concept of "anti-abortion," which they substituted for the more positive term "pro-life." That's how language manipulation succeeds.

Tavistock was founded because the NAZI Party under Dr. Josef Göebbels was far more successful at manipulating public opinion than the Allies. Indeed, the Allies were ill-equipped to compete in the propaganda war until after WW II had ended.

Once founded, Tavistock went in an entirely new direction from the approach taken by Göebbels. This is because in a free society, efforts to enforce social change must be hidden, in contrast to closed or socialist societies where subtlety and incrementalism are unnecessary.

Tavistock's clients had to nuance their propaganda efforts to effectuate real changes in the way the general population viewed many subjects. This was accomplished through the development of language that in subsequent decades would completely alter the way many unsuspecting people viewed a wide variety of public issues.

Tavistock pioneered the process of replacing a word or phrase with a more benign euphemism. For instance, the term "gay" is used to replace more negative labels such as "homosexual" or "queer." This was brilliant: "Gay" has connotations of happy, carefree and cheerful, and so modern dictionaries now include this new definition, "referring to a homosexual person."

In a similar manner, the term "homophobe" was coined by making a conjunction of homo (man) and phobia (fear). The term "phobia" usually refers to an irrational fear and is well known in the mental health field. Used according to Tavistock, the term implies that heterosexuals are afraid of homosexuals and that their refusal to accept the latter's lifestyle is irrational or "phobic."

As the Tavistock Institute recognized, the language we use to communicate has the ability to influence the way the general population perceives a particular subject. Since everything done by the left is directed at social control, Tavistock has been the main instrument of forced and leftward change since the early 50s.

The following is a glossary of euphemisms employed by the Institute as a means of influencing perception by Westerners of certain subject matter. The reader can determine for himself just how successful this intellectual Trojan Horse has been at influencing the way we perceive the world around us.

Glossary of Euphemisms

Community Service: A probationary period to determine if a citizen is ideologically loyal and sufficiently deserving to receive benefits distributed by the state.

Common Core: Once implying an essential “core curriculum” that educated persons should know: Now, merely a checklist of subjects necessary for the indoctrination of public school students with socialism, multi-culturalism and “gender” issues like feminism.

De-Platforming: The process used by the leftists in social media to restrict access and censor conservatives, Republicans, Christians and white nationalists willing to defend their points of view.

Equality: The term used to intentionally confuse the principle of equality before the law with the fraudulent notion of an enforced equality of outcome between races or sexes.

Gay: A term once denoting “happy,” but now referring to homosexuals.

Gender: The devious and sinister expansion of biologically-based sexuality into multiple categories of so-called sexual “identity.”

Global Citizenship: Open borders by any other name.

Global Poverty: The fraudulent concept that some nations are poor because others are wealthy.

Homophobe: The insinuation that heterosexuals are “afraid” of homosexuals, rather than merely disgusted by them.

Internationalism: A term used to promote One World Government schemes.

Judeo-Christian: The false insinuation that Judaism and Christianity share basic philosophical principles in common.

Multiculturalism: The hilarious notion that First World civilizations have much to learn from Third World shitholes.

Progressives: Communists by any other name, whose true idea of “progress” is totalitarian socialist regimes like the USSR, Cuba or communist China.

Sustainability: An umbrella term suggesting compliance with the arbitrary and capricious demands of “environmentalists.”

Social Justice: Jettisoning the Rule of Law to achieve equal outcomes in accordance with Marxism’s dictates.

Toxic Masculinity: The principle that all men (except persons-of-color, of course!) are violent and tyrannical rapists, who should be assumed guilty, irrespective of the lack of evidence.

White Privilege: The phony idea that the academic and financial successes enjoyed by white people are attributable to their skin color, rather than their 15-point IQ advantage over blacks.

DID YOU KNOW ... That making the old “OK” hand gesture in person or even in a photograph can get a white person reprimanded at school, removed from a business or even fired from their job? Why? Simply because the ☆ Anti-Defamation League put it on their list of HATE symbols.

Predictions!

By Dr. A. H. Krieg

Many have noted profound changes in the “Democrat” Party over the years. These changes have been ongoing since the 1960s, but have rapidly accelerated since the beginning of the Obama administration.

The Democrat Party appears on the brink of absorbing the Communist Party of the United States of America (CPUSA). The various wings of the communist party now number over 65,000 card-carrying members, and the financial support they used to receive clandestinely from the Soviet Union’s “COMINTERN” now comes from other communist sources, such as George Soros and his Open Society Foundation.

In addition to the CPUSA, the “Democrat” Party also appears to be in the process of absorbing the Committees of Correspondence for Democracy and Socialism (CCDS), the Freedom Road Socialist Organization, (FRSO) and the largest of these groups, the Democratic Socialists of America (DSA.) The latter lists 70 “Democrats” in the US Congress as members, and every 2020 “Democrat” presidential candidate is a supporter of this alliance.

Based on these trends and developments, I’ll stick my neck out and make the following predictions: The CPUSA and DSA will not run candidates in the 2020 presidential elections but, instead, will support the Democrat nominee who will be a DSA member, whether overtly or covertly. All CPUSA, DSA, CCDS and FRSO and other socialists will endorse and support the DNC primary winner.

Moreover, the Democrat Party Platform will be the most extreme political statement ever produced by any party in the United States, and will include the following: The so-called “Green New Deal” at a cost of $100 Trillion; forgiveness of all college loan debt at a cost of $1.4 Trillion; and free education from Kindergarten through college at a cost of $2.7 Trillion per year.

Consistent with its efforts to revive “Obamacare,” it will also advocate “cradle to grave” nationalized (single payer) health care at an annual cost of around $3 Trillion, and include a program to fund free medical prescriptions at the cost of an additional $2 Trillion. Also covered will be “transgender” surgery for the mentally disordered, and free health care for Illegal aliens!

There will also be a plank in the Democrat Platform to abolish the Electoral College so illegal voting in California and other “sanctuary states” won’t be “quarantined” within their borders, thus allowing voter fraud to “spill over” state lines and contaminate Popular Vote totals in presidential Elections. The DNC Platform will also advocate “packing” or expanding the Supreme Court to accommodate leftist judges.

This 2020 Democrat Party Platform will propose increasing personal Income taxes to 70%, which will have the effect of driving every wealthy individual out of the country who doesn’t contribute to the DNC. It will probably also call for increasing corporate income tax rates to 90%, and drive all those “greedy” corporations to distant lands, as well. (As Marxists, they may not realize this would purge the country of the very means of PAYING for all of these government giveaways!)

Also, if it doesn’t include a provision demanding “Reparations” for blacks and Indians, then I’ve underestimated the agenda of the enemy. Naturally, it will include a provision supporting abortion-on-demand -- even into the “fourth Trimester” -- a euphemism for infanticide.

Estimates for the cost of the “Democrat” Party’s 2020 Platform are around $20 Trillion, which is just about the value of America’s annual Gross Domestic Product!

During the Spanish Civil War in the 1930s, many of the leftist groups opposed to Franco's Nationalists became squeamish about fighting alongside communists, especially after seeing just how immoral, savage and treacherous they really were.

In response, word was sent down to the trenches in the form of a motto to be observed by everyone on the "loyalist" side: That motto was "No enemies to the left," meaning that everyone on the loyalist side should ignore any qualms -- however legitimate -- they may have about serving alongside any OTHER leftists, since the REAL enemy was found exclusively on the Right.

Obviously this particular principle is still practiced today by the DNC, and any efforts to distinguish between communists, socialists, liberals and progressives are merely a tribute to the folly of seeking to find some flicker of decency in any of them, no matter how benign they may appear on the surface.

1619 Project at the TIMES

By Earl P. Holt III

At the New York Times, the Pharisees of the Jews Media have established a company-wide policy to attack and "deconstruct" America's founding as a nation. It is called the "1619 Project," a reference to the fact that the first documented instance of chattel slavery on the North American Continent was introduced in the year 1619.

As Jewish communists are inclined to do, every employee at the Times (I won't use the term "journalist") is required to frequently reference the 1619 Project, even its sports pages. The purpose behind the 1619 Project is to shame America and undermine American patriotism by "exposing" the "sinister" and "evil" nature of America's founding, allegedly based upon African slavery.

In addition to their traitorous nature, communist Jews are also renowned for playing fast and loose with the facts. In the case of its 1619 Project, some of these are immediately apparent, as they attempt to promote their narrative about America's ostensibly "illegitimate" founding.

First, there is the awkward fact that America was not even a nation in 1619, but merely a colonial possession jointly-owned by the British, French and Spanish. America was not founded as a nation until 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed by several dozen courageous individuals willing to sacrifice their "...lives, fortunes and sacred honor..."

Secondly, there is the inconvenient fact that by 1830, there were 3,775 black slaveholders in the South who owned a total of 12,740 black slaves. The vast majority of these slave owners were located in Louisiana, South Carolina, Virginia, and Maryland. As historian Ira Berlin has written: "In slave societies, nearly everyone — free and slave — aspired to enter the slaveholding class, and upon occasion some former slaves rose into slaveholders' ranks."

To write comprehensively about black slave-owners in the antebellum South would generate an entire library. Merely one example of such a single volume would be Larry Koger's book, Black Slaveowners: Free Black Slave Masters in South Carolina, 1790-1860.

Perhaps the most inconvenient fact confronting the Times' 1619 Project is the fact that the first legally-recognized slave-owner on the North American Continent was a nigro! This should be perplexing for those wishing to promote a large transfer of money to blacks as Reparations for chattel slavery. Below is a condensed narrative describing this historical fact and its source:

Anthony Johnson was a black man who came from what is modern-day Angola: He was captured by an enemy tribe and then sold to Arab slave-traders, who in turn sold him to the Virginia Company as an indentured servant in 1619 to grow tobacco.

After seven years, Johnson was released by The Virginia Company and became a free negro. He was given 50 acres of his own, which was the custom under the terms of indenture at the time. By the 1650s, he managed to successfully build his own farm until he possessed 250 acres and five indentured servants.

However, in 1651, when it became time for Johnson to release John Casor -- one of Johnson's OWN indentured black servants -- Johnson reneged (pronounced "re-nigged") on the terms of his contract with Casor by refusing to release him or convey to him the land to which he was entitled. Casor then left Johnson to work for another farmer named Robert Parker.

When Johnson learned of this, he sued Robert Parker and won in Northampton Court in 1655, while Virginia was still a colony of Great Britain. The Court ruled that Johnson could hold John Casor indefinitely, despite the terms of their indenture.

Both were black men: Casor became the first legally recognized black slave in the American Colonies, and Johnson became the first legally recognized slave-owner.

Even though Johnson was, himself, freed from his indenture by his WHITE masters, when it came time to free his OWN black indentured servant under the terms of his indenture, Johnson reneged (pronounced "re-nigged") on the contract, and insisted upon unilaterally extending John Casor's servitude and converting it into chattel slavery.

Slavery as a Weapon

By Earl P. Holt III

Cultural Marxists who dominate the news media and our educational system routinely use the issue of black African slavery as a weapon to attack white people, and white children in particular. Their purpose is to eradicate any vestige of white ethnic pride, even as they relentlessly promote ethnic pride among blacks and other races.

Kevin Alfred Strom once shared his views about our ideological enemies and their multiculturalist agenda on an American Dissident Voices radio broadcast titled "The Truth About Slavery":

"By recounting and emphasizing again and again the real and imagined sufferings of black people under slavery, the white student is made to feel that his ancestors were cruel, morally retarded, and evil. They are made to feel that they owe black people a nearly infinite compensation, since, they are taught black people's problems today are the legacy of hundreds of years of slavery for which white people are responsible. They are taught that the relative prosperity which we enjoy today was achieved largely by exploitation of black slaves."

As author Johann Wingard points out, it is an outrage that the blame for slavery should be placed solely upon the collective conscience of Europeans, because it was a practice carried out by all races. In fact, slavery is still practiced in Africa, even in modern times and by black Africans, themselves, no less!

"It would be wrong, however to place the focus only on Europe, as the African slave trade with Arabia was of similar if not greater proportions. Even after the West abolished slavery, Arab countries continued with this atrocity...as recently as 1953, several Saudis went to West Africa posing as Moslem missionaries and invited thousands of Africans on a pilgrimage to Mecca. On arrival, the pilgrims were arrested for entering the country without visas and were sold as slaves. In the late 1950's there were between 500,000 and 700,000 slaves in Arabia."

Present day African slavery is every bit as onerous as that practiced in Colonial and ante-bellum America. A March 6, 2002 report on French television's TF1 described how 15,000 children were abducted from Mali with promises of a better life, but then sold as slaves to cotton plantations on the Ivory Coast.

Child-slavery still flourishes in West African countries like Nigeria, Togo, Benin, and Gabon. Yet, despite the ubiquity of the African child slavery trade, the corrupt leftist media persist in focusing exclusively on the issue of black slavery in AMERICA 150 years after it ended. White, Western societies are subjected to endless propaganda involving references to black slavery found in film, TV shows, magazine articles and "news" broadcasts.

Dr. William Pierce -- the late leader of the American racial-nationalist organization National Alliance -- recognized that the modern mass media deliberately ignores the modern slave trade in Africa:

"Businessmen in the coastal cities send buyers into the interior with buses, where they collect surplus children... Once in the coastal cities, the children are housed in large, supermarket-style buildings where shoppers can stroll through, select the children they want to buy, and pay for their merchandise at the door as they leave... This is a thriving business involving thousands of children bought and sold every year in dozens of slave markets in West African cities...After slavery was outlawed in Europe and America, it continued as an ongoing institution in Africa, just as it had for countless centuries before White men began buying African slaves."

The only reason any Westerners even know of this ongoing African slave trade -- particularly the trade involving children -- is because there are a few organizations staffed and funded by white people that investigate these situations, such as Amnesty International and Anti-Slavery International. These groups strive to educate the public and generate public opposition to the African slave trade, but they receive little support from the Corrupt Leftist Media.

Imagine the outrage among the corrupt leftist media if the races were reversed, and whites were currently engaged in enslaving black children. As Dr. Pierce stated so accurately, "...news about blacks in Africa, behaving the way blacks always have behaved -- whether it is buying and selling child slaves in Nigeria or engaging in ritual cannibalism in Liberia or "necklacing" accused witches in South Africa -- is news which doesn't fit (their narrative) and is therefore deemed not newsworthy..."

In fact, the Corrupt Leftist Media regard such news as dangerous and worthy only of censorship because it conflicts with the image they have fabricated of virtuous, noble, industrious, sensitive and intelligent African blacks, whose lack of economic and technological development is solely attributable to their exploitation by greedy whites.

It's important for the left to maintain this fiction, because it reinforces a sense of white racial guilt: It convinces glibble whites that they owe something to non-whites, and that they must never think of their own racial interests -- or feel any sense of racial solidarity -- because such racial pride can only lead to terrible things like slavery and the oppression of those "noble" blacks.

Somehow, America's white population is expected to bear "collective" guilt for the black slavery that occurred in the 17th, 18th and 19th Centuries, without any mention made of WHITE slaves in the New World and in many other places. Moreover, that fabricated blame is extended to all whites around the world, even though slavery ended in the U.S. over 150 years ago.

Nor is mention made of the fact that only about 8% of American families owned slaves, while many Blacks, themselves owned slaves. In fact, the first legally-recognized slave-owner in North America was a black man. (See pp.12-13, above.)

Yet, despite all the rhetoric about America's experience with black slavery, the same situation obtains in Africa, today, although it is ignored by "multiculturalists" around the globe. Arabs and blacks both trade and own black slaves, continuing the practice of slavery even to this day! Yet, this situation is virtually ignored by the global media because black slavery is only considered "evil" when practiced by whites.

The Arab and African countries practicing slavery today are not subject to condemnation by the news media or ANY governments, in contrast to the vilification South Africa endured during Apartheid. The countries that practice black slavery today experience no similar denunciation, nor do they endure international economic boycotts against them as South Africa did for years. In fact, these human rights abuses are studiously ignored by the Marxist-dominated international news media.

The truth is, the issue was never about slavery: Rather, it has always been about finding an excuse to condemn and vilify white people in order to generate white guilt and destroy white ethnic pride as a means of promoting white extinction. In short, its purpose has been to promote situations conducive to furthering the left's malignant strategy of multiculturalism.

In the final analysis, today's obsession with black slavery has nothing to do with slavery and everything to do with their belief that the white race stands between multicult-turalists and their goal of a "New World Order." The success of their tactics can be glimpsed in the self-hatred displayed by many gullible and cowardly whites, who have succumbed to the condition known as "White Guilt Complex."

Railroaded

By Dr. Ed DeVries

The Democrat Party's presidential candidates and some in Congress feverishly promote "Reparations" to blacks for slavery. Meanwhile, in The Netherlands, its state-run rail company, NS, has agreed to pay tens of millions of Euros as "reparations" to alleged "Holocaust victims" and their families.

Salo Muller -- a retired physiotherapist for the Dutch soccer club Ajax sued the state-run railroad, claiming that his parents were arrested by the Nazi's in 1941 (when he was 5 years old,) and transported by an NS train from Amsterdam to the Nazi holding facility at Westerbork.

Nine weeks later, Muller alleges his parents were transferred from Westerbork to Auschwitz. Muller claimed that his parents were murdered at Auschwitz and that the Dutch state, through the agency of NS, was responsible.

NS admitted that the company earned the equivalent of 2.5 million Euros in today's money transporting families to the Nazi transit camp at Westerbork, and included in these transports were approximately 107,000 Jews. Historical records indicate that most of the prisoners transported to Westerbork were later transferred to Nazi camps at either Auschwitz or Sobibor.

In 2005 NS said the transports were a "black page in the history of the company" and apologized for its role in the Holocaust"

NS complied with the orders of the Nazi occupation government "to make trains available," according to Dirk Mulder of the National Westerbork Memorial. He also confirms that NS received payment from the Germans for doing so. According to Dirk Mulder, the company "did it without a word of objection." That is the real crime according to Europe's courts.

The Westerbork camp opened in 1941, and the first deportees left Holland on NS trains on July 15, 1942. Thus, the delay between the arrival of Salo Muller's parents and the first departures of NS trains at least undermines the conclusion that Salo Muller's parents were actually transported on an NS train. Still, the court has found the Dutch rail service guilty and ordered that it pay, apparently with little examination of the facts.

The final NS train left for Westerbork on September 13, 1944, and thousands have claimed to be survivors of descendants who were transported on those trains. Each survivor will receive 15,000 Euros ($17,000,) while between 5,000 and 7,000 Euros will go to children and widowed spouses of alleged victims.

Extorting tens of millions of Euros from a company that realized the equivalent of a mere 2.5 million Euros in “ill-gotten” revenues -- almost eight decades later -- seems inconsistent with any semblance of fairness or equity.

Moreover, awarding those sums to people who were never actual victims -- and who often are unable to establish their victimhood -- seems equally disconcerting.

But we must remember that the battle for “reparations” is not a discussion of “right or wrong,” nor a matter of “justice or equity.” If we acknowledge that the debate surrounding “reparations” in Europe is entirely political, then we should not be surprised if similar discussions in our own country are about to get even more insane.

Betrayal by Our “Political Class”

By Earl P. Holt III

The term “political class” is often used to refer to wealthy or powerful elites who possess greater power and influence than the vast majority of their fellow citizens, and who act behind the scenes to shape public policy. America has been betrayed by its political class for many decades.

Much like the “Nomenklatura” that ruled the former Soviet Union, our political class is united in its efforts to accumulate power, advance a generally leftist and “globalist” ideology, and enrich itself. These objectives conflict with the interests of most Americans, for whom the principle of “popular sovereignty” allows no room for a greedy and self-anointed aristocracy.

For many decades, these political elites have misguided both domestic and foreign policy while working hand-in-glove with the Corrupt Leftist Media, who are the cheerleaders for international socialism. In the process, both the Corrupt Leftist Media and our political elites have done grave harm to both the Constitution and to the fabric of our political and cultural institutions.

In truth, much of their so-called “wisdom” originated with the Pharisees of the Jews’ Media, and was then parroted by their minions, political consultants, K Street lobbyists, mercenary academics and traitorous elected officials on both sides of the Washington “swamp.”

Members of the political class were paid well to fabricate their “brilliant” ideas, and many soon became orthodoxy in the swamps of Washington and other Western Capitals. Almost all of them have been demonstrably mistaken and destructive. Much of it borders on treason.

George Orwell once remarked that “...some ideas are so absurd that only an intellectual could believe them.”

Looking at the conventional wisdom generated and advanced by our political class, one is obliged to give Orwell long overdue credit for that particular insight.

Here are some examples of the “conventional” wisdom advocated since World War II by these “prophets” of the political class. Most were catastrophic in their consequences, and promoted by an arrogant elite, far removed from the real world and ensconced in “think tanks” and on the editorial pages of the NEW YORK TIMES and WASHINGTON POST where they were read primarily by each other.

SUBSIDIZING COMMUNISM: One particularly egregious policy was to subsidize our mortal enemies in communist nations such as the USSR and China. This was alleged to be beneficial, because it supposedly demonstrated our benign intentions and would make “capitalist” allies of ideological enemies.

In reality, U.S. loans and “trade credits” to the Soviet Union allowed it to divert resources from its agricultural and consumer goods sectors, allowing it to build the largest and most aggressively expansive military in world history. Likewise, for three decades the rapid growth of the Chinese economy was achieved primarily at the expense of U.S. national security and economic growth. Hapless administrations allowed China to join the World Trade Organization and granted it Most Favored Nation trade status, but then turned a blind eye to China's theft of U.S. intellectual property.

They also ignored the recurring trade deficit between the two countries resulting from China's currency manipulation and its imposition of large tariffs on U.S. imports to China.

Like the Soviet Union before it, China considered rapid growth to be a necessary prerequisite for the military build-up it planned to challenge American military preeminence in coming decades. This rapid growth has been accomplished at our expense by annually generating $500 Billion trade deficits with us, and by annually stealing $500 Billion in intellectual property from U.S. Corporations doing business there.

MULTICULTURALISM: Our political Class has often trumpeted "multi-culturalism" as a societal strength that is alleged to enrich our culture and civilization by making us more "diverse." Another quaint notion held by our political class is that "diversity" is somehow beneficial to a dynamic American economy. Both reflect the rationale of our political class for immigration amnesty and open borders.

Apologists for "open borders" refuse to recognize that all this does is attract the dregs of the Third World, most of whom immediately get on welfare, as 71% of all Hispanic Immigrant families have done. The latter have no interest in assimilating and tend to recreate the same Third World slums with which they are familiar, as they have done in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Nueva York.

Third World immigrants also comprise a disproportionately large part of state and federal prison populations: 35% of all inmates detained in California's state prisons and county jails are illegal Mexican nationals. This is because 95% of all murder warrants in Los Angeles are for illegal aliens, and 75% of those on the "Most Wanted" list in Los Angeles County are illegal aliens, as well.

FEDERAL STUDENT LOANS: Universal college education was promoted as a great idea, and one that allowed students from all income classes greater access to the "American Dream," irrespective of their desire or capacity to learn. Federally guaranteed student loans have created an explosion in demand, that has inflated the cost of admission to unprecedented levels at most schools, far above the rate of inflation.

It has also attracted a massive influx of students who slept through 12 years of schooling and who experience little benefit from the dumbed-down curriculum and Marxist indoctrination that now passes for a college education. Incredibly, these marginal students now compete with our brightest math, science and engineering students – and other scholars -- for loans and Pell Grants.

Equally as galling, their frequent student loan default balances must be absorbed by U.S. taxpayers. These are estimated to total about $170 Billion over the next decade, and are extremely common among the so-called "historically black colleges."

There exist many other examples of truly flawed and dangerously stupid ideas promoted by our political class. For example, it was claimed that race quotas would show our good will to a black minority, but instead, it created a large population of parasitic race-hustlers, with a vested interest in their own radicalism.

Likewise, forced integration was claimed to bridge the persistent racial achievement gap between blacks and whites. Instead, that gap persists despite trillions of dollars spent to remedy it. Meanwhile, the forced integration of the public schools has destroyed nearly every large public school system by driving white students, white administrators and white teachers from the system.

However, the one thing our Political Class has actually done well is to insulate itself from the ravages of its own failed policies. After all, the children of our "Political Class" need never compete with immigrants for employment or academic opportunities, just as our Political Class would never consider living near the squalid barrios and ghettos their immigration policies have created.

More than anything, the election of Donald Trump was a repudiation of the flawed 50-year treasonous "leadership" of our self-anointed "Political Class," that has engaged in a self-serving operation to destroy the very soul of America under the guise of promoting "enlightened" ideas.

MILLENNIALS & ADULTHOOD

By Earl P. Holt III

With the usual hubris that characterizes many of her generation, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-Outer Mongolia) has declared that her "Millennial" generation is "the greatest generation." Let's examine that claim.

If there is one characteristic that defines adulthood it's a willingness to accept responsibility for the consequences of one's own actions and behavior. This implies a willingness to face up to the truth, not only with others, but "to thine own self" as well.

One universal characteristic of children -- even the many who remain so long after they have reached middle age -- is their refusal to accept responsibility for their own behavior: They always insist on blaming their failings on external forces, or insist that nothing is wrong at all, and people just "don't understand!" An excessive number of blacks and "feminists" are like this, and far too many Millennials, as well.

Having survived The Great Depression and fought World War II, most of my parents' generation achieved adulthood by the age of 21. In contrast, my own, more coddled generation was fortunate to have achieved real adulthood by their mid-20s. Extrapolating, I am confident that many Millennials will not be adults until they are at least 30, if at all.

For example, most people who have bothered to tackle this subject of Millennials have observed how poor their work habits are. While many insist that they should be paid $15 per hour (or more!) for so-called "entry level" jobs, these same "children" often have difficulty bothering to show up for work on time or showing up at all! They also tend to spend much of their time texting each other, and far less time doing anything that would justify even a $15 hourly wage.

They also evidence a strong sense of entitlement, because they have become conditioned to expect “free” stuff. Their e-mail servers are free, they can download endless free software and free games, and have become conditioned to expect all their appetites to be satisfied for free.

As a result, many are supported financially far into what should be adulthood, so they frequently resent having to pay for things that most adults take for granted. (One dizzy girl rated my cat’s Veterinarian only three stars out of five -- despite acknowledging “excellent service” -- because in her own words, she “resented having to pay Vet bills” ...)

A great many Millennials fail to recognize the consequences of their actions in the political realm, as well: Few understand that their overwhelming support for a black, communist and Muslim candidate for President in 2008 and 2012 is the reason the U.S. economy remained stagnant for eight years, and why 96 million otherwise employable Americans removed themselves from the work-force.

They also fail to realize that many of their number were “under-employed” for many years because the traitor they helped to elect and re-elect to the White House had no interest in “growing” the economy, despite much lip service to the contrary.

In fact, Obama’s only interest was to reward his political supporters with the wealth of others, as he did when Bondholders of Chrysler and General Motors were transferred to the United Auto Workers during their highly questionable “bankruptcies.”

DISTRUST

Millennials also tend to be uniquely “distrustful” of anyone older, and frequently reject the knowledge and experience that older and more experienced people are in a position to provide. I attribute this to the fact that they have been routinely betrayed by “educators” and the Corrupt Leftist Media, whom they have mistakenly trusted for much of their lives. They simply cannot imagine that anyone knows more than they do.

I have friends in real estate with vast amounts of expertise who often lose real estate listings of the homes of Millennials to other Millennials, because my friends refuse to adopt the proper “insignia” of Millennials, such as spiked and oddly-colored hair, grotesque tattoos or piercings and nose rings.

The grotesque disfigurements many Millennials display appear to be an attempt to convey the impression that the bearer is “deep,” and that their disfigurement is some sort of profound political or philosophical commentary. In an age dominated by the electronic media, they somehow assume that this is how people achieve the recognition and “image” they crave, or how they imbue their lives with “meaning” because that is what “celebrities” do.

Another friend who has had a great deal of contact with them made the following point: Their communication skills are very poor, and for a number of reasons. Among other things, they were rarely required to write during their schooling, so they have poor writing skills.

Thus, their preferred means of communication is via cryptic messages “texted” on their “smart-phones.” They will relentlessly text each other for hours, even when everyone involved in the group conversation happens to be occupying the same room.

This preference for “texting,” when oral communication would be quicker, simpler and easier, is evidence of their obsession with technological gadgets. However, it is also evidence of their lack of comfort in direct communication for despite their narcissism, many Millennials are almost grotesquely introverted.

This condition frequently results in a life lived in a world peopled by fictional heroes and results in equally powerful obsessions that seem to include cartoons, “zombies,” video games, super-heroes, the occult and “Bigfoot.” Sadly, many Millennials appear unable to live in the real world.

Edmund Burke once remarked that “If you don’t believe in God, you’ll believe in anything.” I suspect this explains much of the enthusiasm that Millennials harbor for the things most educated people find ludicrous.

Thanksgiving & Socialism

By Earl P. Holt III

Many Millennials have unabashedly embraced socialism, as evidenced by the newly-elected New York Congresswoman, Victoria Ocasio-Cortez. Ocasio-Cortez campaigned on a platform advocating free nationalized health care, free college tuition, free housing, and a guaranteed Minimum Wage of $15 per hour.

Most Millennials may be oblivious to this fact, but implicit in their socialist enthusiasms is the concept of "utopianism." This notion has been traditionally promoted by the left, namely, that it's possible to create an idealized society or "utopia" on Earth, where everything is "fair" and "equal" and everyone is free to fulfill their personal aspirations. Its vague and ambiguous nature allows everyone to fantasize their own image of a utopian society, much like a Rorschach Test.

Appeals to "utopian" fantasies have always been an essential element of socialism's recruitment efforts. Their promises of an "ideal" or "utopian" society suggest the extent to which delusion and fantasy can replace reason and historical perspective. This is true not only among those of limited intelligence, but also among our ostensibly "enlightened" elite found in academia and government.

In a bygone era -- when people were truly educated rather than merely indoctrinated -- socialism was a "tough sell," because the Soviet Union and "Eastern Bloc" nations were a grim reminder of what socialism really meant in practice and a stark contrast to their "utopian" promises. It was abundantly clear to normal people that any state with the power to nationalize everything could quickly become a 6,000-mile-long Gulag.

However, since recent college graduates know less about history and political economics than the average Sixth Grader of 50 years ago, the utopian vision of Marxism has become a much easier fantasy to sell. It also doesn't help the causes of reason and logic that the misnamed "Democrat" Party, academia and the Corrupt Leftist Media are feverishly engaged in promoting those very same socialist fantasies.

Thus, the very societal institutions designed to educate or inform the public have, themselves, "drunk the Kool-Aide" and become as delusional as the low-IQ crowd. To ordinary people who have retained sanity and judgment, none of this makes any sense: Those "utopian" fantasies to which we are daily subjected by politicians, celebrities and the Corrupt Leftist News Media have been discredited for hundreds of years.

History is cluttered with the remnants and wreckage of earlier efforts to establish "utopian" societies. One of the more interesting involves our Pilgrim forebears, and it took place right here on the North American Continent. Their experiment with utopian socialism has many profound lessons for us today, even 400 years later:

Despite the quaint narrative taught in school as part of an on-going multicultural "hustle," Thanksgiving has nothing to do with Indians saving the early colonists. That never happened. Instead, the holiday we recognize as Thanksgiving was originally an American national holiday in which our Pilgrim forefathers celebrated their deliverance from socialism and collectivism, and the starvation and death that accompanied them.

The earliest recorded settlers in New England landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620. On their voyage across the Atlantic, these Pilgrims established the Mayflower Compact, the first recorded instance of a socialist political economy in North America. Among many other things, they agreed that everyone would contribute to a common store of food and other goods, and that each person would have an equal share in its ownership and use.

The Governor-General, William Bradford, wrote a detailed history of the Mayflower Company. In it he indicated that there was a great deal of sloth among some of the strongest and most able members, who felt it unfair that they should make a disproportionately large contribution to the common store, but in return, receive no more than those who contributed little or nothing.

Consequently, much arable land was left fallow, and by Fall, the already meager food stores began to dwindle.

Approximately one-third of the Mayflower Company died that first winter and half died in the first year, with most succumbing to starvation and diseases associated with starvation.

The following year, the socialist elements of the Mayflower Compact were eliminated, specifically, those dealing with this “common store” and the equal division of shares among members. The institution of private property was re-established and vigorously defended. Members were free to work for their own good, and were also free to dispose of the fruits of their labor as they alone saw fit.

As a consequence of the economic benefits of private property, the following year produced such an enormous bounty that these early colonists were beside themselves with gratitude to God. As a gesture of their gratitude, they established a national “Day of Thanksgiving,” and even chivalrously invited friendly Indians to share their bounty.

To those with the intellect and honesty to objectively look at the plight of public education, it should come as no surprise that the idiots who run our public schools have allowed the true meaning of Thanksgiving to be completely lost to the last several generations. Moreover, it is doubtful if most would impart its true meaning to a current generation of students even if they were aware of it, which few if any are.

The irony is, the very idiots who teach in and run our public schools would establish state socialism tomorrow if they could, never having themselves, learned the lessons of the Mayflower Compact or the failures of socialism’s “utopian” fantasies. Rather, they parrot the mantra that previous experiments with socialism just haven’t been implemented correctly.

Thus, they and their ideological allies like Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez continue to promote their collectivist fantasies and other delusional forms of ignorance to gullible individuals, and rob them not only of their rich cultural heritage, but also rob them of one of the most important lessons that history has ever offered us.

California Scheming

By Earl P. Holt III

If you want to see what America would look like if “Democrats” were to gain control of the White House and Congress in 2020, you need look no further than California.

It is a Third World nightmare on the brink of bankruptcy, because it has willingly and enthusiastically implemented much of the Marxist insanity that passes for “policy” initiatives among “Democrat” Candidates on the 2020 Presidential Primary campaign trail. California is one smug “sanctuary” state where homeless loons, syringes and human waste are everywhere.

It is obvious that much of the treasonous and irresponsible legislation enacted in California has forced many former residents and businesses to flee to other states. The formerly “Golden State” has clearly tried to compensate for this loss of population by granting “sanctuary” to illegal immigrants and inviting them to share in its socialist delusions as well as its elections.

In California’s largest cities -- such as Los Angeles and San Francisco -- illegal immigrants have quickly recreated the same Third World squalor they were ostensibly fleeing in their native lands. The result is endless filth that leads to diseases presumed to have been eradicated in the civilized world, and the skyrocketing costs of public services such as health care, for which there is infinite demand. Let’s look at some facts:

THIRD WORLD SANCTUARY: Los Angeles County has a population of 10.2 million people, but 40% of those employed there work for cash and don’t pay federal, state or city income taxes from which come the funds necessary for public services. Although these “immigrants” are predominantly illegal and working without a green card, this fact does not seem to prevent them from battenning onto the welfare system.

As many as 300,000 illegal aliens in L.A. County are living in garages. Moreover, 3.9 million people in L.A. County speak only Spanish, and are about as enthusiastic about "assimilating" as they are about paying federal income taxes.

WELFARE: Nearly 60% of all occupants of HUD properties are illegals. Moreover, while less than 2% of these illegals are picking our crops, 29% are on welfare. In addition, over 2/3rds of all births in Los Angeles County are to illegal Mexicans on Medi-Cal and paid for by taxpayers.

ILLEGALS & CRIME: 95% of warrants for murder in Los Angeles are for illegal aliens, and 75% of those on the most wanted list in Los Angeles are illegal aliens, as well. Thus, nearly 35% of all inmates in California detention centers are Mexican nationals who are here illegally. Not surprisingly, the FBI reports that half of all gang members in Los Angeles are illegal aliens and 29% of inmates in federal prisons are illegal aliens.

Individual States do not have the authority to declare bankruptcy as individual cities and counties can. This is significant because California's bankruptcy is inevitable: When it eventually occurs, the U.S. will be in a position to demand profound and far-reaching reforms to California's state constitution and state laws, in return for a bailout of that state's truly hopeless financial situation.

Depending upon which party is in power at the time, some forced reforms might include the following: An end to so-called "sanctuary" cities and counties; Prohibition of all forms of welfare to illegals; Requiring full and candid cooperation with Immigration Control and Enforcement (ICE) agents and the re-negotiation of state employee pension funds that are now a TRILLION DOLLARS under-funded!

California Scheming

(To the tune of "California Dreaming"
by The Mamas and the Papas)

L.A.'s black and brown, and San Francisco's gay
You can't go for a walk, without a real A-K
Whites and straights unwelcome, they'll drive you away
California scheming, I simply cannot stay.

I stopped into a church, somewhere within this state
I got down on my knees, worried 'bout my fate.
But the pastor was a homo, looking for a date
California scheming, I'm learning how to hate.

Now, Sacramento's where our taxes go to die,
Much of them squandered: makes me want to cry.
Funding those illegals, we dare not ask them why,
California scheming, I gotta say good-bye!

Poetic Justice

The beginnings of a race war are stirring in the so-called "Democrat" Party that may cause it to self-destruct. This would be an event worth celebrating, since the modern "Democrat" Party has been the greatest obstacle to America's national security and financial stability for 70 years.

When Kamala Harris attacked Joe Biden for opposing forced busing during the first televised Democrat Primary debate in June, it was the first instance of a phenomenon that will become more common in the months ahead. Being the senile dolt he is, Biden's efforts to fend off the attacks by Kamala Harris were characteristically confused and ineffectual.

Now, that crazed ignoramus -- Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez-- has publicly denounced Nancy Pelosi as a racist because of Pelosi's efforts to reign-in AOC, that loud-mouthed and dizzy communist representative from New York.

The truly delicious nature of these two events stems from the fact that denouncing Republicans as "racist" has been a routine strategy of "Democrats" for over 50 years. As a "Democrat" electoral strategy, false accusations of racism thrown at Republicans are almost as important as black and Hispanic voter fraud.

As more and more Hispanic and black "Democrats" scramble for power by denouncing the party's white leadership, the party will be "hoist on its own petard" in a truly delicious and much-deserved example of poetic justice, and one worthy of a Shakespearean tragedy.

This was inevitable: A party consisting of Muslims, homos, communist Jews, nigras, bitter and rabid feminists, illegal aliens and corrupt union bosses could not possibly hold together for long. These amoral and traitorous groups were united primarily by their greed, hate, willingness to lie and lust for power, so training their viciousness on each other became inevitable.

My advice for decent Americans is to stock-up on popcorn and adult beverages, and then sit back and watch the fun for the next year. It will be more entertaining than the Super Bowl.

Who's Crazy ?

Communists and other "Democrats" are desperately trying to use the Constitution's 25th Amendment to remove President Donald Trump from office. Under this provision, they seek to have him declared mentally unfit for office.

Strangely, those with Trump Derangement Syndrome -- who now call for Trump's removal -- never applied the same standards to Rapist-in-Chief Bill Clinton. The latter shamelessly turned the Oval Office into the "Oral Office," and degraded the Presidency as he took advantage of Monica Lewinsky and many others.

So long as a President's official conduct falls within the scope of the law, there should be no serious questioning of his state-of-mind, whether sincere or otherwise. Disagreement over policy was never intended to be grounds for removing a President through the 25th Amendment.

The desire to become President may, in itself, require a certain degree of mental abnormality. More often than not, it is born of a desire to control others by "transforming" the United States by adopting an alien ideology.

The American people should give preference to those -- like George Washington -- who accept the nation's highest office only reluctantly, not those with no humility and who lust for it.

There are more than enough troubled souls in the Psychiatric Profession, already: It should not engage in disingenuous politicization.

Making Sport of Feminism

So-called "feminists" have labored for decades to obscure the obvious differences between men and women. Some even argue that "gender" is a "false construct," much as race-hustlers and communists argue that race is supposedly a false construct. The "feminist" movement is a revolt against their very nature.

One recent consequence of their attempts to blur gender distinctions is that so-called "transgender males" are beginning to dominate women's sports to the detriment of athletes who are biologically female. Those who are displaced by these "circus freaks" can thank The Ladies' Auxiliary of Marxism for this absurd state of affairs.

Because feminism is a form of Marxism, it has attracted a variety of bitter lesbians and other mentally ill individuals, most of whom harbor profound resentment for society at large and white men in particular. Each of the latter subscribes to the delusion that they are "oppressed" by a sinister and white "patriarchy."

The most recent example of this phenomenon is Megan Rapinoe, one of the stars of the recent U.S. Women's World Cup Championship soccer team. She loudly and publicly refused to visit the White House in celebration of her team's World Cup victory because she hates Donald Trump.

As children will often do, she holds Donald Trump responsible for her anger and frustration over the fact that female professional soccer players are paid less than men. Much like a Rorschach Test, President Trump often becomes a target for whatever irrational grievances are held by mentally ill, neurotic, unhappy or delusional leftists across the globe, and particularly those harbored by irrational feminists.

Of course, President Trump is no more responsible for the disparity in salaries between men and women in World Cup competition than "Bigfoot." In World Cup competition, men are paid more because they draw larger crowds and generate five times the revenues, and these translate into higher salaries. If women were a bigger draw, THEY would be paid the higher salaries.

The disparity in interest between men's and women's soccer probably lies in the fact that men play a superior brand of soccer, and possess greater athleticism. How do we know this? Two years ago, the U.S. Women's Team were beaten 5 to 2 by a male high school team from Dallas, against whom they played a practice game in preparation for the World Cup.

I am not attempting to diminish women's soccer, and have been told by a former male All-American soccer star that the women play a very high quality brand of soccer. He praised the U.S. Women's Team for their teamwork and passing.

On the other hand, I won't sit idly by and let the unfair and unfounded complaints of bitter, neurotic and unhappy lesbians go unanswered. Megan Rapinoe is probably just angling to get a Nike sponsorship like another misanthropic America-hater that preceded her, that orangutan Colin Kaepernick.

Doublespeak & Doubletalk

I attended the 2019 Nationalist Solutions Conference, held at the end of June at Montgomery Bell State Park in Tennessee. On Saturday night David Duke was the keynote speaker. The topic of his speech was the novel 1984 by George Orwell.

In Orwell's dystopia, the people who were members of the party would hold a ritual called "Two Minutes of Hate." In this ritual, the people would scream at an image of Emanuel Goldstein, recognized as an enemy of the state.

David Duke gave an interesting interpretation of this. He claimed that Goldstein was the controlled opposition and a creation of Big Brother. The state used Emanuel Goldstein in a manner similar to the way that the "Deep State" uses President Trump as a target of their hate.

David Duke did make one error in his presentation: He kept using the term "doublespeak." When George Orwell wrote 1984, he coined the terms "newspeak" and "doublethink."

However, if you look up doublespeak in Wikipedia, it will tell you that terms like doublespeak or doubletalk were not in common usage in 1948, when 1984 was written.

Robert Mueller's Testimony

For those who missed it, Robert Mueller's testimony before Congress on July 24, 2019 unquestionably revealed him to be doddering and confused. It also exposed what little active participation he had in the Special Counsel's investigation that bore his name.

There appeared to be enormous gaps in his understanding of the basics of the investigation and its final report, in particular. To great astonishment, he conceded that he had never heard of the opposition research firm Fusion GPS, which fabricated the fraudulent "Steele Dossier" that was the sole evidence (or predicate) used to initiate the investigation of President Trump. (This is akin to the Warren Commission never having heard of Lee Harvey Oswald.)

Mueller also appeared to be unfamiliar with many elements of his own report, indicating that he had little role in its writing or the investigation that preceded it. Several times he had to be told by GOP committee members that the source of statements he was asked to comment upon came from the Mueller Report, itself!

In addition to very little familiarity with the "Steele Dossier," he seemed to be unaware of the fact that prosecutors cannot "exonerate" anyone under our legal system. All they can do is recommend for or against prosecution based on the available evidence. This is astounding, given that Mueller has been a high-level functionary in the U.S. criminal justice system for decades.

It should be patently obvious that Mueller was merely a figurehead who -- based upon his allegedly good reputation -- was drafted to give cover to the activities of the Special Counsel's staff. In this role, he helped obscure the Special Counsel's true agenda of destroying the Presidency of Donald Trump in what has been termed an unconstitutional and treasonous "soft" coup.

Mueller may have been talked into accepting the role of Special Counsel to help save the careers of many friends and acquaintances who served in the Obama Administration, and who had earlier engaged in this conspiracy to destroy Trump as a candidate, and later, as President.

These "friends" included James Comey, Sally Yates, Jim Baker, Peter Strzok, Lisa Page, James Clapper, John Brennan and ultimately, Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton.

Another important lesson to take away from the spectacle of Bob Mueller's testimony is that when the Corrupt Leftist Media declare that someone is "highly respected" or has a "stellar" reputation, it means only one thing: That person is reliably on their side, politically or ideologically.

We know this to be true because both Robert Mueller and disgraced former Obama FBI Director James Comey were both described in this manner by the Jews' Media.

The Great Danger

If the white race is destroyed, it will not be at the hands of our enemies. No matter how numerous and strong, they cannot overcome the race that built Western Civilization. No, if we fall, it will be at the hands of our own people, either those who have been indoctrinated into hating their race or those who wish to further adulterate our gene pool with bi-racial offspring.

Either way, these are people who display what the great 20th Century Christian apologist, C. S. Lewis called "the spaniel in us." By this, Lewis meant the innate desire by mankind -- and especially white mankind -- to be liked at all costs. As a dog fawns over its master, so these people will say and do whatever they believe will bring about the approval of the person or group they wish to demonstrate their good intentions.

An excellent example of the consequences of this mindset concerns the former head of the Museum of the Confederacy, a man who had no compunction whatsoever rejecting and destroying the reason and meaning of the Institution entrusted to him -- as well as the Institution itself -- to gain the approval and good opinion of the NAACP!

Whether or not he achieved that end under his "watch," the Museum of the Confederacy was betrayed into becoming just one more politically correct version of "American history" as written by our mortal enemies. It is tragic that those who bestowed family treasures upon that institution must now see them portrayed as examples of Southern wickedness, that is, if they are seen at all! For the "good opinion" our enemies bestow upon our foolish brothers is fleeting indeed, and soon whatever was supposedly gained is quickly and irretrievably lost.

I no longer concern myself with minorities for I see most of the damage already done and the fate that awaits us just over the horizon is not accomplished by Somalis in Minnesota or troglodytes in drug gangs, but by people who should know better; that is, young (and not so young) whites who hate their own history from its great achievements to the Christian Faith that is its foundation.

Sadly, there are more whites than Muslims trying to destroy Christianity, and that's saying something! Is there any hope? I don't know. Our children and grandchildren have been indoctrinated by an educational system designed to destroy our culture, and I don't see how it can be stopped barring some cataclysm forcing people to rethink the belief that a socialist, minority-run "utopia" can be created in this fallen world once whites are destroyed.

However, what I do know with certainty is that every day brings us closer to the point of no return. . . .

Demonizing Patriotism

The Democrat Party has demonized the concept of American nativism, or the pride inherent in being native to the soil of America. Other leftists parrot the slogan that "We are a nation of immigrants," and frown on those who point with pride to being born and raised here.

Reverse racial discrimination must be the order of the day, to be inflicted upon all of America's native sons and daughters, say the Democrats.

Illegal aliens get many benefits paid for by the American tax payer that are not available to America's home-grown, such as free food, free education, free housing, free legal counsel and free medical care. All this courtesy of Democrats and RINOs, who consider the word "native" to be every bit as taboo as that other "N-word".

Speaking of words that begin with the letter "N," it should be mentioned that most U.S. blacks have historic roots in American soil as deep or deeper than many European-Americans. A substantial portion of America's white population is descended from the "Ellis Island crowd," whose ancestors first set foot upon American soil in the late 19th century. (This was long after the ratification of the Constitution's Thirteenth Amendment abolishing slavery.)

Every human being needs a sense of belonging to a parcel of soil he can call his own, and "nativism" is merely an expression of this need. On the other hand, the left seems intent on obliterating this sense of pride.

One Hand Clapping

Williams College intends to host a science and technology symposium in November, and it intends to bar whites from participating. This "progressive" Massachusetts liberal arts school wishes to provide a forum for what it terms "new" voices in the field, which is Marxist code for "non-whites".

Williams' symposium, titled "New Voices in Science and Technology Studies: A C3 Symposium," requested scholars submit papers only if they represent a “historically underrepresented group.”

The invitation specifically names “African Americans, Alaskan Natives, Arab Americans, Asian Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders” as those who are welcome to participate. Like Elizabeth Warren’s application to join the Harvard faculty, prospective participants are asked to write a few sentences proving they are within a “historically underrepresented group.”

Ironically – and hypocritically -- the application to participate also provides the usual “equal employment opportunity” disclaimer, falsely and wrongly declaring that individuals from all races are welcome.

On its face, barring whites from participating in a technology symposium would be akin to the National Basketball Association prohibiting blacks from participating in that endeavor: but such race discrimination is apparently legal when practiced against whites.

Nevertheless, even though whites are disinvented, it is still possible to anticipate some of the contributions that might be forthcoming from “historically underrepresented groups” for the benefit of those who are unable to attend. For instance:

Certain African-American attendees are expected to reveal a novel formula for cooking “crack” cocaine more efficiently and with little waste of the product. Another possible African-American contribution is expected to involve a variety of bio-feedback techniques for “beating” the dreaded polygraph.

Alaskan Natives plan to contribute a new device for defeating the “breathalyzer,” while Arab-Americans will share new techniques for smuggling high-explosives without detection or detonation.

Latinos are expected to reveal a new method of tunneling underground and across borders with minimal likelihood of detection. It is also anticipated that one team will reveal a technique for distinguishing between the various entrees found in Mexican cuisine so Yankees can correctly ascertain just what it is they are eating on Cinco de Mayo.

A team of Latinas are expected to reveal a new technology – much like GPS software – that will indicate the most convenient route to the nearest U.S. hospital to ensure that no matter where they happen to be, they are assured of being accommodated when it comes time for them to drop a litter.

One particular Native American project is expected to refute the traditional Mean Lethal Dose for alcohol, demonstrating that traditional standards adopted by the pharmacology profession are inadequate and far too low to be applied to the physiology of Native Americans.

If they can remember to attend and are able to find their way to Williams College, a Native Hawaiian team will present a paper proving empirically that massive quantities of extremely potent marijuana is beneficial, and enhances one’s judgement and ability to reason while improving one’s memory.

A team of Pacific Islanders willing to attend could not be contacted. Apparently, they are all on vacation somewhere in the South Pacific.

Dumb and Crooked

A former NFL player recently demonstrated just how corrupt the race-hustling industry really is by staging a phony “hate crime” against himself and his business. Edawn Coughman, a retired journeyman NFL player, was arrested on September 12th and charged with insurance fraud, giving a false police report, and concealing a license plate.

An apparent student of the Jussie Smollett School of Race-Hustlers, Coughman vandalized his own restaurant and ice cream shop in an attempt to stage a hate crime against himself. His objective was to benefit from the insurance proceeds.

According to Gwinnett County police: “It appears as though Edawn conjured a premeditated plan to damage

his own property, attempt to make it appear as a hate crime, file a claim with his insurance company, and sell off the undamaged appliances and electronics."

Fortunately, a witness reported a burglary in-progress at Coughman's Create and Bake Restaurant and Creamery in Lawrenceville Georgia at 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 11. Police found considerable damage to its interior, as well as the words "*n*gg*r*" and "monkey" spray-painted on interior surfaces. Naturally, the vandalism also included swastikas and the acronym "MAGA" to impugne all Trump supporters.

It is also fortunate that the witness who initially reported the crime described the suspect's car as a black Chevy Silverado without license plates. When police arrived soon thereafter, they stopped just such a vehicle attempting to leave the shopping center.

The Silverado's driver was none other than Edawn Coughman, and in his possession was the yellow pry-bar he used to force entry at the restaurant's back door, while leaving yellow paint marks in the process. Also in his possession was the restaurant's surveillance system and a number of televisions freshly ripped from their mounts.

Coughman also had black paint on his hands from his earlier efforts to incriminate white people for his crimes, and was wearing gloves and a "hoodie" despite the unseasonable September heat.

This guy is too dumb to continue a life of crime: Earlier in the day, Coughman reported the vandalism to his insurance company BEFORE he actually committed these crimes. (Not surprisingly, he never called 911!) When police arrived, they detected the smell of fresh paint and found the racially-charged graffiti still wet, indicating that it was Coughman who was the culprit.

These incidents have standard patterns: When this fool goes on trial, his race-hustling black Defense Attorney will -- once again -- defame police and all white people for Coughman's own misdeeds. We'll know the racial composition of the jury by its verdict.

Return of the Undead Amendment

Not too many folks today remember the ERA (Equal Rights Amendment), and the effort by leftists and feminists to put this monstrosity into the Constitution fifty years ago. Obviously, the effort was a failure, but for a very long time the Amendment's adoption was considered a "slam-dunk."

ERA supporters told American women that the ERA would do for them what the 13th Amendment did for blacks; that is, it would end THEIR "slavery" to men. Fortunately, there were a lot of savvy ladies in the U.S. who knew EXACTLY what the ERA was about.

The ERA would have worked like the long-forgotten ORIGINAL 13th Amendment -- the Corwin Amendment -- that was intended to introduce chattel slavery into the Constitution in perpetuity. That is, slavery could not have been ended without repealing the Amendment itself. Among other things, the ERA would have perpetuated evils far worse than slavery into the Constitution, including the murder of innocents in the form of ABORTION.

Thankfully, through the efforts of such women as Phyllis Schlafly and her Eagle Forum, the truth got out to decent Americans -- both men AND women -- and the ERA was soundly defeated. But now it's back from the dead like some wretched zombie. Apparently, the culture has changed to the point at which the leftists and feminists believe that THIS TIME they can win and, sadly, they may be right.

But why has this "scariest zombie" been revived? For the same reason that the confirmation of Justice Kavanaugh on the Supreme Court was fought tooth-and-nail. Indeed, there are still demands that he be impeached because the Supreme Court may finally be considering modifications to Roe v. Wade that might slowly dismantle at least its more evil provisions.

For a long time, the minions of the left had no fear that anything or anyone could modify or overturn Roe, but that has changed. Also, they believe that now they are strong enough to put the ERA into what remains of the Constitution!

It is interesting to note, however, that calls for passage of the ERA are at present very muted. Apparently, the left is still wary of "middle America." If Donald Trump wins in 2020, however, be prepared for a full-blown campaign to put this "undead" Amendment back on its rotten feet.

Roots of Mass Shootings

It does not take a genius to figure out why we have mass shootings: Unless you are a Marxist, all it takes is a little common-sense.

Beginning in the 1950's Cultural Marxists – who now call themselves "progressives" -- have systematically secularized America and purged religion from public life. It began with the fraudulent "doctrine" of the "Separation of Church and State," which was mined from a private letter from Thomas Jefferson to the Anabaptists, but has no weight or bearing in either law or the Constitution.

In their zeal to secularize America, Cultural Marxists determined that religion, morals, and any concept of right and wrong were to be purged from the public schools and forbade their teaching. In so doing, they eliminated the traditional "moral compass" that allowed students to distinguish between "right" and "wrong."

Moreover, a long series of very evil and misguided Supreme Court decisions -- culminating in Roe v. Wade -- paved the way for institutionalized infanticide within American jurisprudence. Not surprisingly, some states are currently pursuing legalization of what is euphemistically called "Fourth Trimester Abortions" to take place after a live birth.

Compounding these outrages, Cultural Marxists have not only condoned, encouraged and legalized homosexuality, they have made it a Constitutional right. Queers now ludicrously assert that there are as many as 14 different "genders," a claim made necessary by their numerous and tawdry sexual practices.

For 10,000-years society recognized the existence of two sexes, male and female: today, however, children have been indoctrinated and brain-washed by queers and their leftist allies to the point that they are often confused about their own "gender."

Finally, a subject receiving far too little scrutiny is the endless violence and mayhem found in popular culture such as films and computer games. It is a well-recognized principle and technique of the psychology profession that continued and incremental exposure to a given phenomenon can cause subjects to become "desensitized" to it.

After one has "vaporized" thousands of video enemies -- or cheered the slaughter of legions in the latest toxic release by Hollywood Shylocks -- it is a simple transition for unstable individuals to enter the three-dimensional world of their perceived enemies and continue the slaughter.

Separating Families

The Democrats frequently allege cruelty by President Donald Trump and his administration for separating migrant parents from their children. They also bitch and moan about the squalid conditions and overcrowding at the migrant detention centers.

We do not separate children from parents who come to America LEGALLY, and do so only in cases of invaders coming to America with evil intent. If they come to America illegally, it is reasonable to presume they have evil intentions.

While the left makes separating immigrant families sound as arbitrary and capricious as possible, it is something even U.S. citizens sometimes experience: American citizens are separated from their children when they are arrested or incarcerated.

The outrageous conditions of our migrant detention centers is the responsibility of those who fund and organize the caravans of Third World immigrants through Mexico, not the Trump Administration. America does not owe American citizenship to anyone not born on American soil.

By far, America is the most generous country in the world for its willingness to accept foreign immigrants into the

Dumbed-Down Kids

Well, well, well! On September 23 we'll be treated to another "Youth Climate Strike," supposedly from sea to shining sea. New York City school authorities have announced that 1.1 million students will be allowed to skip class without penalty so they can take part in the protests. They want a big turnout because the United Nations Climate Action Summit will be held on Monday, and it'll be just so impressive to have a million New York kids yelling their heads off for world government.

Do you think crucial public policies ought to be decided by a million high school kids parroting a lot of pap pumped into their heads by Far Left "teachers"?

"Organizers expect millions of people to leave work, home and school," we are told. We don't need no stinkin' prosperity! We don't need no free republic! Holy cow, the world's gonna end in just twelve years—unless all the governments get together and "DO" something!

Despite the climate cult having been caught lying and cheating, fudging figures, suppressing some data while overstating others, -- times without number -- they refuse to leave the stage, clinging to the biggest scam in history for all they're worth. You can see why: If they convince us that Doomsday's coming and only they can save us, they can do anything they want. Either we submit to them, or kiss it all goodbye.

Public school students hear this every day. Higher taxes, bigger and bigger government—well, we just have to do it or we're all gonna die!

The Far Left Crazy seeks to conquer us: to do to us what Hitler and Tojo couldn't do with all their fleets and armies. And in their megalomaniacal scheme of things, what the schools do is to recruit our own children against us. And if the schools can't quite close the deal, there's still "higher education" to finish the job on what's left of their brains.

You don't get a million kids marching for "action" on OMG Climate Change (!) without first baking their minds in a socialist oven, which is what most of our schools are. That they'll be marching against their own liberties will not occur to them—besides which, with the survival of The Planet on the line, who has time for liberty?

The only upside to this is at least they'll miss a day of school.

Inevitably Worse

An Australian couple has been arrested by Iran after traveling there to “try to break the stigma around travelling to countries which get a bad rap in the media.” The couple, Jolie King and Mark Firkin, are the latest victims of truly staggering naivete among young Westerners when it comes to Islam.

Their plight is similar to that of Jay Austin and Lauren Geoghegan, an American couple that was murdered by ISIS jihadists last year while bicycling through Tajikistan.

The savagery of ISIS is well documented and particularly befitting of an 11th Century Theocracy. Yet, responsibility for the bewildering naivete of these four misguided souls lies with the Leftist echo-chamber they inhabited. The Left has constructed a delusional world where the only evil that exists is President Trump and his supporters.

In their fantasy world, Islam is “a religion of peace and tolerance,” and those who disagree are “Islamophobes.” Likewise, borders are an anachronism, and even the concept of nation-states is a relic of the past. In their worldview, only Donald Trump and the “far-right” are dangerous.

In some respects, these incomprehensibly naïve individuals remind me of the late “Timothy Treadwell,” a self-styled “eco-warrior” who spent many summers on the Alaskan peninsula living among Alaskan Brown Bears (“Ursus Arctos,”) until he eventually became their entrée. One writer speculated that the bears grew weary of Treadwell’s insipid baby-talk and finally had enough.

Treadwell did far more damage than good to those he wished to assist, which seems to fit the pattern of most undertakings that are concocted within the skulls of leftists. In addition to getting himself slowly eaten, the bears ate his girlfriend as well. Park Rangers were then obliged to shoot several of Treadwell’s bear friends, believed to be responsible for the carnage.

Perhaps those of us who support President Trump should establish a travel agency to promote sightseeing by adventurous young idealists in ISIS strongholds, Iran, and even the Alaskan National Park system.

Their travel to exotic destinations just might make America a better place...

Pedophilia and Hypocrisy

By Joe Sobran, May 8, 2001

I guess I hit a nerve. When I wrote, a few weeks ago, of my disgust with the homosexual movement, I got a barrage of mail accusing me of being “ignorant.” One correspondent spelled it “igorant.”

Oddly enough, nobody bothered telling me exactly what I was ignorant of. None was able to point out factual errors in what I’d written. These were just people who assume that anyone who disagrees with them, or disproves of their sanitation-defying deviancy, must be “ignorant.” (Or “igorant.”)

My chief point was that the major homosexual organizations have never repudiated pedophilia. On the contrary, the North American Man/Boy Love Association (NAMBLA) is a regular participant in “gay” events.

This stands to reason. On what grounds would one category of perverts oppose another — especially when the two categories overlap?

If I am “ignorant,” it must be because I overlooked a multitude of “gay” denunciations of child molesters. But if such denunciations have been forthcoming over the years, why has nobody called them to my attention?

One could easily get the opposite impression. Why have the “gay” groups been so avidly targeting children? They want little kids to be taught homosexual propaganda and even sexual techniques in public schools — remember the notorious Heather Has Two Mommies?

Under homosexual pressure, one liberal private school in

Manhattan has just announced that it will no longer observe Mother's Day or Father's Day. The principal explained to parents that "families in our society are now diverse and varied" and therefore "the recognition of these holidays in a social setting may not be a positive experience for all children." Such as Heather.

The homo groups, who demand "tolerance" for themselves but show very little toward others, harbor a particular animosity toward the Boy Scouts. Can't they leave anything alone? No. Especially children. They make homosexual scoutmasters a top priority, with no consideration — with, in fact, sheer contempt — for parents who worry about their young sons. You could almost get the impression that these groups want boys exposed to homo men, couldn't you?

Just as homo literature equates the normal aversion to homosexuality ("homophobia") with bigotry, it equates opposition to pedophilia with "racism." In England, homo groups constantly militate for lowering the age of consent for sexual acts. The movement's bible is the Kinsey Report, which vastly overstated the number of homosexuals in the population — preposterously putting it at 10 per cent — and offered detailed research, from direct observation, on sexual experiments on children.

Meanwhile, the "mainstream" news media, which play down even murders of boys by pedophiles, never mention the pedophile component of the movement. That would be "reactionary," like pointing out Communist participation in "liberal" causes a generation ago. The "progressive" etiquette code forbids noticing such things. (It does however permit, even require, reporting the participation of, say, white supremacists in conservative causes.)

As NAMBLA attests, pedophilia is no longer a love that dare not speak its name. But NAMBLA's allies are still slightly restrained by discretion and don't yet want to advertise the entirely predictable connection between homo militancy and pedophile militancy. And as long as the media won't deal with Pedophilia, Inc., they are doing their part to keep the public ignorant. There's no need for the pedophiles to stay in the closet when ignorance is sustained by the people who are supposed to be dispelling it.

For many years I was indeed ignorant. I am somewhat less so now, having opened my eyes to the obvious. And I'm sure that if I spent more time reading the homo literature, I'd notice many more things that aren't meant for prying eyes.

As Samuel Johnson once observed, "No man is a hypocrite in his pleasures." But many men are hypocrites when it comes to defending their pleasures, especially the illicit ones. The porn consumers used to insist: "I only buy it for the articles." The pedophiles insist that they only want children to be sexually "liberated" for the kids' sake.

Far more often than polite society wants to admit, stereotypes and cynical suspicions are correct. Some of the worst liars afoot are those who, in the name of fighting "ignorance," want to "raise your consciousness."

Interpreting Adam Schiff:

By Earl P. Holt III

In the wake of the controversy surrounding President Trump's July 25 phone call with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky, in a totally unprecedented action, President Trump released a transcript of that call. On September 26 Congressman Adam Schiff — Chairman of the House Intelligence Committee — engaged in what he called a "parody" of President Trump's July 25 telephone call to Zelensky.

It is clear that the contents of the call did not include the incriminating evidence that Schiff and other “Democrats” had hoped. In response, Schiff engaged in what he called a “parody” of the transcript, and applied a great deal of “interpretation” to President Trump’s motives and the explicit text. Both were totally unrelated to anything President Trump actually stated in his conversation.

Since Schiff has established a precedent for free-lance interpretations of other people’s conversations, we at the Council of Conservative Citizens have undertaken to “interpret” Congressman Schiff’s “parody.” This is a subjective interpretation, and entirely our OPINION.)

INTERPRETING ADAM SCHIFF: “As a Jewish communist and a queer, I am biologically and psychologically incapable of telling the truth. As such, mendacity, prevarication and other forms of lying are my stock-in-trade.

This was evident over the past two years when I went on news media channels approximately 250 times claiming that I had seen “conclusive evidence” that President Trump engaged in “collusion” with Russia to influence the 2016 General Election. This was a clear example of my emotional instability and lack of fitness for office, because I knew for a fact that no such evidence existed.

I know in my heart of hearts that my parody of President Trump’s telephone conversation with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky was fraudulent and inappropriate. However, I recognized two things at the time: First, the vast majority of “Democrats” are too stupid and ignorant to understand what a “parody” is.

Secondly, I know that the other communist Jews, nigros, homos, Muslims, bitter feminists and Third World garbage -- who ARE the “Democrat” Party -- won’t care that I engaged in parody, nor will they care about my personal attempts at “creative license”: They will accept my personal interpretations as accurate, owing to “Trump Derangement Syndrome” or some other form of mental illness.

Finally, I feel it only appropriate that I come clean and reveal another truth about myself: I have carried on a romantic relationship with one of my neighbors’ male goats for the past seven years. We are so truly in love, however, that we are not interested in the disapproval of bigoted Christians, conservatives or Republicans who refuse to acknowledge our truly loving relationship. We plan to marry.

We’re truly in love

They Aren’t Kidding

By Lee Duigon

“Your message couldn’t be sent because it includes content that other people on Facebook have reported as abusive.”

Facebook censored me again this week, and that little quote above was all the explanation I received—which is, of course, no explanation. I received it literally within seconds of composing my blog post and attempting to share it on Facebook.

What “other people” even had time to read the post, let alone report it as abusive? Facebook’s message is a lie. What they really mean is that their robot, employing mindless algorithms because it’s only a machine and can’t think, got its “censor” button pushed by some word or phrase I used. I suspect it must have been the words “Democrat doofus.”

Meanwhile, in the totally uncensored world of left-wing nooze media, NBC Nooze ran an opinion piece by some other doofus who said “Heterosexuality is just not working anymore” and women should abandon it. She tapped Jeffrey Epstein and the Dayton and El Paso shooters to represent the heterosexual male population, billions of us, on the earth. No hate here.

The term that springs to my mind is “in your face.” For almost all of my lifetime, Democrats and other liberals masqueraded as reasonable, moderate, fundamentally sane and decent people. We often disagreed with them, we thought their recommended policies misguided, and the policies they managed to carry out were widely unsuccessful—but we didn't think they were out to trash the country.

We were wrong. They have shred that pretense. Now they just come out with stuff that's off the wall, just plain evil, or both.

A simple rule of thumb: whatever a liberal proposes, just ask, "What if everybody did it?" And if the answer is "The human race goes extinct," or "The country collapses into violence and chaos," or "We lose our liberty," that means it's something that should not be done. Examples are easy to understand. If all women reject heterosexuality, we go extinct. If our country's borders are erased, we get chaos. If we start throwing people into prison for disbelieving in Man-Made Climate Change, or using the wrong pronouns, we lose our liberty.

Oh—and they also attack you in the street, if you wear a MAGA hat. Not a single Democrat in Congress has found any fault in this. Looks like they're okay with it.

The censorship is getting more and more blatant, and it's always a one-way street. Leftist loons swarmed onto my wife's Facebook page to call for the violent death of our president. No hate there. Does Facebook censor them? Visit any of their Facebook pages (as we have just done), and you'll find President Trump in particular and non-leftist Americans in general called a lot worse names than "doofus." Apparently no one ever reports that stuff as "abusive."

Why do these people not bother to pretend they're fair or reasonable? What do they know—or think they know—that tells them they don't have to?

Has God saddled them with a delusion that will lead to their total defeat, and their end, at least temporarily, as a viable political movement? If only. But they're acting now as if they believe they're invincible, and I would very much like to know what makes them think so. Have they devised a secret fool-proof scheme for voter fraud? Or some sure-fire means of suppressing Republican votes? I mean, Hubert Humphrey had more than his share of loopy liberal ideas, but he didn't trot them out for public view. Why have today's liberals cast away their masks, and act like what normal people think of them simply doesn't matter anymore?

We need to know.

Meanwhile, just in case you wanted to know, the "Democrat doofus" featured in my censored blog post was Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, who says we can pay for socialism and the Green New Deal just by printing more money. You can find the post on my blog, Aug. 26.

I have discussed these and other issues throughout the week on my blog, <http://leeduigon.com/>. Stop in for a visit (before I get censored again); a single click will take you there. My articles can also be found at www.chalcedon.edu/.

L.O.S. Statement on White Nationalism

By Dr. Michael Hill

The U.S. House Jewdiciary Committee headed by Jerry Nadler (D -- NY) opened hearings on April 9 on the alleged "dangers" posed by White nationalism. Moreover, on March 28, Eliot Engel (D -- NY), Chair of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, wrote to Secretary of State Mike Pompeo asking that the US State Department take an active role in combating White nationalism on an international scale.

White nationalism is conveniently defined by these people as anything Whites do to resist their own disenfranchisement in the very nations founded by their forebears. To those of us in the League of the South, White nationalism and our branch of it -- Southern nationalism -- is a natural and necessary response to Jewish, Black and Latino Supremacism, as well as other forms of the same Multiculturalist and Marxist ideology that openly calls for the displacement of Whites and the destruction of our civilization.

We must first make our voices heard in protest of these attempts to criminalize lawful and moral White dissent. We must let it be known that we shall dare to defend our rights and perform our duties to our people and civilization. We will not stand idle while our moral actions to defend ourselves under the ancient law of salus populi are outlawed. No man or woman deserving of their freedom would ever consent to such a thing.

Moreover, we must redouble our efforts to alert and organize our people against this open and blatant attempt by the enemies of our freedoms to prevent us from standing in defense of all that our Founders bequeathed to us, who themselves, would fit the current definition of "White nationalists."

As an organization, The League of the South has obeyed the laws of this land for a quarter century, and we will not stand by and allow ourselves to be marginalized, much less accused of criminality, in defense of our God-given blessings as Southerners in particular and as White Men and Women in general.

Any attempt to twist and pervert the law to diminish us and our standing will be viewed as a hostile act meant to destroy us. That we shall not permit.

(Dr. Michael Hill is President of the League of the South.)

HIGH SCHOOL ESSAY CONTEST

There's an old adage that is sometimes applied to the Apostle Paul: "There's no zealot like a convert."

This principle also applies to those who were once committed Marxists, but who experienced an "epiphany" similar to that of St. Paul, and spent the remainder of their lives exposing the evils of totalitarian Socialism. The most famous of these is George Orwell, author of the books Animal Farm and 1984.

Describe the characteristics of totalitarian Marxism illustrated in Orwell's two books, and apply them to current cultural and political phenomena that demonstrate his vision and insight.

RULES

Prizes are $1000 for First Place and $500 for Second Place.

Competition is open exclusively to those enrolled in high school, and not yet attending college on December 31, 2020. Submissions must be received by this date. (CofCC, P.O. Box 250, Potosi, MO; 63664-0250.)

Essays must be in a digital format, should not exceed 1,500 words and will remain the property of each author: Sponsor retains "One Time" publication rights in the CITIZENS INFORMER.

All work except quotes must be the original work of the authors, and Semi-Finalists will be interviewed about their work to establish its authenticity. Any form of plagiarism will be a disqualification.

Authors may request a pseudonym when their work is published, to protect them from the many Cultural Marxists who lurk in academia.

Pocahontas, Pocahontas, Trump has named you
But you're not like the Injun' in that tale;
Is it 'cause of your baloney that he shamed you
When claiming kin for whom you're much too pale?

Did you deceive the voters, Pocahontas?
Like you lied to land your gig at Harvard U?
All those whoppers you've brought to your campaign
Are recycled Stalinism and not new.

Are you real and not phony Pocahontas?
Or just a dizzy liar and a fraud?

Do you really trust the voters Pocahontas?
Or must you tell them lies each time you speak?
All those wacko ideas you've been promoting
Indicate your campaign's prospects must be bleak.

Are you real and not crazy Pocahontas?
Or just a dizzy liar and a fraud?

Crazy Bernie's Hypocritical Oath

By Earl P. Holt III

While campaigning in Las Vegas for his nationalized health care plan, Bernie Sanders -- the socialist candidate for President -- suffered a mild heart attack. He was expeditiously admitted to a nearby hospital, received two cardiac "stints," and released two days later.

In a delicious example of irony -- one lost only on Sanders and his clueless supporters -- is the fact that Sanders would be dead were it not for America's PRIVATE system of health care, one that Sanders wants to destroy by nationalizing it.

Sanders has campaigned for decades against private health care, the very system that last week saved his life. He wants to take away everyone else's access to the kind of care he received by eliminating private health insurance and creating a single, government-funded system.

The fact that his campaign refused to disclose which hospital he was admitted to was clearly done to avoid the embarrassing concession that when Sanders needed care, he opted to go to a PRIVATE hospital. The following day he Tweeted "I'm feeling good. I'm fortunate to have good health care and great doctors and nurses..." He added, "Medicare for All!"

Crazy Bernie's verbal sleight-of-hand camouflages the fact that his "Medicare for All" plan is not Medicare at all, but really a blueprint for socialized medicine that would eliminate Medicare entirely. A more accurate description would be Medicaid-for all, one that mimics the British National Health System and other European socialized medicine schemes.

The fact that Bernie was immediately admitted to a hospital and received an angioplasty may not sound exceptional to most Americans, but it would astonish many living under the various nationalized health care schemes in Europe and Canada.

For example, the Brits wait an average of more than 55 days for the same treatment, while Canadians needing angioplasty must wait about 11 weeks for treatment. In Norway, Bernie would have waited 39 days, and 42 in Finland.

Like all leftists – especially those belonging to the Tribe -- Crazy Bernie wants the goyim (“cattle”) to muddle along under a rationed system of socialist health care, while he continues to receive world-class private health care as a U.S. Senator and multi-millionaire.

Crazy Bernie came to Los Vegas to attend a Medicare-for-All town hall meeting. Ironically, he was unable to attend because he was otherwise indisposed getting his hypocritical life saved by the same system of private medicine care that he wants to destroy.

The only reason Sanders is still around to continue his campaign for socialized medicine is because he was not living under such a system when he became ill.

Circus Freaks Exposed In Arkansas!

By Billy Roper

For the last four years, a motley collection of homosexual activists and sodomites have held “Diversity Festivals” in Harrison, Arkansas. They specifically targeted Harrison because of its reputation as a wholesome, conservative and predominately White community. These “festivals” have featured water slides, face painting and other attractions designed to appeal to small children.

These recruiting efforts by organized pederasty have been protested by White Nationalist groups and their allies, but were studiously ignored by local news media and the community at large: both wrongly assumed the activists would go away if denied coverage. Instead, Harrison’s lack of resistance has only encouraged these Antifa and communist-supported homosexuals to become even more flagrant in promoting their perverse lifestyles.

This year, one member of the movement exploited their position at the Harrison Quality Inn to convince it to serve as both the venue and a sponsor of the 2019 Harrison Diversity Fest, using the Inn’s Conference Center. The “fest” promoted the usual prancing and “nancying” around, including a Drag Queen Competition for all age groups as a means of recruiting children under twelve years of age and concluding with a Drag Queen “Story-Time.”

Also on the agenda was a Gay Dance Party to precede the next day’s Gay Pride Parade around the downtown Courthouse Square and ending with a flamboyant homosexual party at the Lyric Theater, also a supporter of their sick “Diversity Fest.”

Although originally scheduled for June, the Harrison event was postponed until September of 2019 owing to their fear of exposure and being counter-protested by anti-sodomite groups. As it turned out, they were not able to avoid the public scrutiny they wished to avoid.

The ShieldWall Network (SWN) has successfully neutralized and “doxed” a number of left wing and Antifa activists who previously supported the Harrison Diversity Fest. This year, however, it was decided that rather than merely show up to protest their organized perversity, instead, the SWN would surprise the sodomites from the very start of their festivities and expose the Quality Inn for “selling-out” by sponsoring such a thing.

A conversation with a self-described “representative” of the Quality Inn revealed that this individual does, indeed, support the sexualization of children, at least when not serving beer at a local restaurant.

Prior to the event, The SWN gathered information on the organizers, financial backers, and activists behind this year’s event. Some of it was published ahead of time on the internet for legal and informational purposes, using online data. Literally hundreds of phone calls were made by volunteers to both the Quality Inn and its management, as well as to its corporate headquarters.

Following such due diligence, direct action was planned. Since the LGBTQP groups involved had decided to call their two day event a “Diversity Conference,” SWN members gathered on the highway median in front of the Quality Inn with a large, professionally made banner which stated in bold red letters, “DIVERSITY = WHITE GENOCIDE.”

The timing could not have been better, coinciding as it did with the peak of Harrison’s Friday rush hour traffic. Hundreds of commuters saw the SWN’s banner and other signs, and most gave us the “thumbs up” sign or honked and waved in support of our protest. Two women, previously unknown to us approached us to ask the purpose of our demonstration: when correctly informed, they joined us and remained throughout the protest, one of them even holding a sign.

While some held signs and banners in peaceful protest against the depravity going on inside, others drove around the area to keep an eye out for potential security threats. Later, as dusk approached, we gathered for a celebratory dinner together in a nearby restaurant that doesn’t sponsor queer activities.

There was no permit necessary for this legal expression of our First Amendment Rights on public property using the highway median, and the police who did arrive were professional and courteous. It’s likely that they don’t like pedophiles and child molesters any more than the rest of us.

Overall, one very important lesson was demonstrated by the SWN’s participation in this protest: such evils as the sexualization of children and their exposure to Drag Queen Competitions and Gay Dance Parties only succeed when they are ignored. If the news media and elected officials turn a blind eye, then we must do their jobs for them.

Those who are not sufficiently provoked by Drag Queen Story-telling and all-ages Drag Queen Shows – at least enough to speak out against them -- need both a brain check and a gut-check. There is no deeper cultural rot, there is no more clear perversion, and there is no greater reason to take a stand, nor greater need to do so. Those who refuse to participate, no matter what their rationalization, have no right to call themselves leaders of anything in their communities.

Many people believe that a civil war is inevitable in the near future that may tear this country apart. If America has declined to the point that it has become a place where the recruitment and sexualization of children is not just tolerated but promoted and condoned, then that civil war cannot come soon enough for many of us.

Until then, we will continue to lawfully, peacefully and publicly protest against the recruitment and sexual exploitation of children. We hope to inspire and embolden other like-minded people through our example. Thanks are extended to those who join us in doing so wherever they find such evil.

(Billy Roper is the Coordinator for the ShieldWall Network.)

A ST. LOUIS KWANZAA

by Earl P. Holt III

'Twas the night before Kwanzaa and all through the hood, the nigros were restless, and up to no good.
Lookouts were perched at each corner with care, to alert all the crack-dens if PO-lice came there.

Fumes of "Mad Dog" and weed wafted strong through the air, while addicts shot smack with nary a care.
The children all braided their corn-rows real tight, hoping some white "mark" would stray by that night.

The Crips and the Bloods made their Holiday Peace, vowing in common to "F the PO-lice."
Even the whiggers hid under their beds, while visions of race riots danced in their heads.

In a crack-house, some scofflaws were lighting more rock, when all of a sudden, there came a loud knock:
Then what to their wondering eyes did appear,
but St. Louis' Finest, in full riot gear!

Doors tore from their hinges and crashed to the floor,
as miscreants screamed, terrified to their core.
The cops went to work with their nightsticks in hand, swinging at skulls as the Africans ran.

A beating ensued as they tried to escape,
AND NOBODY GOT IT ON VIDEOTAPE !
A loud cry was heard by those able to flee,
"Happy Kwanzaa, you punks, from the SLPD."

Boycott Chinese Products!

By Dr. A. H. Krieg

When our washing machine broke down, I gained an entirely new outlook on the times in which we live. I thought our LG machine was Korean, but in fact, I discovered that it was actually manufactured in China. And therein lies a lesson!

The machine supposedly had a 10-year warranty, but the only thing covered for 10 years is the motor: everything else is covered for only 90 days.

The machine is three years old and cost $1,3000 but it broke down after being used just 150 times. LG was disinterested in our problem and suggested that we purchase a Service Manual, not provided despite the $1,300 price. We had the option of downloading it from the Internet, but it proved so complicated that I was unable to do it.

Fortunately I have an acquaintance who used to be in Information Technology, and it took him only 20 minutes to negotiate LG's website to download the correct manual. I was elated: after all, it was just a leak and the service manual was sure to provide repair instructions. I was mistaken: the manual is useless!

The LG Owner's Manual was not written by an engineer or industrial designer, it was written by a lawyer. As a manufacturing engineer by profession, I knew this as soon as I began reading the 48 page document. The first five pages were legal boiler-plate to protect LG from law suits by morons who should be doing their laundry in a bucket by a river.

Then came three pages of introduction, followed by seven pages of Installation Instructions, then preparations for doing laundry. (Things that we in the West have done for over 50-years.) Pages 36 to 42 contained instructions for using the washing machine. The Maintenance section described how to attach the water hose and drain tube, while Troubleshooting provided no information for fixing anything. Finally is a page recommending what to do before calling for service, following more and more useless information.

There were no schematics, pictures of operating systems, nor were there parts lists, or a list of common problems, or repair or warranty centers -- NOTHING!!!! This nearly 50-page Owner's Manual is useless! LG apparently does not even have a service company and must contract-out that task to third parties. LG does not even provide a telephone number or E-mail address for service on their Internet site.

After some searching on the Net I found Sears Home Service listing LG as one of the washers they repair. After a lengthy discussion with their Live Support, I learned that a service call was $89 and someone would come the following Monday morning. After that, I was switched to another person who made an appointment for me. Then I was switched to another person who told me that it would cost $150 plus parts. When the charge was almost doubled, I cancelled all appointments and was informed that someone would call back. No one called.

Eventually, it was arranged that our machine would be repaired on the following Monday, until I received a telephone call cancelling that appointment, and vowing that someone would get back to me about a possible service call on Thursday or Friday. I waited with bated breath, but again nothing happened.

On Monday I called them -- trying one number after another -- and finally lucked out. I reached a woman who canceled all the other appointments and gave us a new one for Tuesday the original $89 service fee, but at this point I do not know if she canceled the $150 charge on my credit card.

Finally on Tuesday, the man from Sears showed up. He had to take most of the machine apart before he found the leak in a hose. Obviously it was a design error as the hose rubbed on the side of the machine every time it ran, eventually wearing a hole.

LG does not provide parts lists so he had no stock hose, but as a good mechanic, he was able to salvage some hose from another appliance to fix the machine. I paid him about $92 and hope that's the only bill I receive. This is the first time I found a manufacturing company that farms out its repairs, warranties, parts, etc., to a second-tier contractor.

This episode has led me to consider our modern society's present deleterious state. I was in the power tool and machine tool industry from 1953 to 1987. Every machine we supplied came with a User's Manual, a Schematic, a Parts List, some basic tools, any required special tools, as well as takedown and re-assembly instructions. It was supplied so that our customers could repair it in the field (Our equipment was about ten times as complicated as a washing machine.)

We wanted our customers to be so satisfied with our products that they considered them to be the best available. (By the way, our Warranty was 12 months, and with power tools for life of the product, excluding wear.) All that has changed. Today, business is not about happy customers and good products, it's about making the product in the locale with the lowest labor costs and with the least government regulations. That means no labor unions, no employee benefit programs, no service availability, no social security, and no healthcare, and designs that fail ten days after the expiration of the warranty.

Service is farmed out to third parties and in turn, subcontractors, who subcontract the actual service work to a fourth party, self-employed contractors, in order to avoid any possible benefit costs.

That crap is called "free trade," and has been sold to the public by Libertarians who understand absolutely nothing about manufacturing, production, distribution or service.

BOOK REVIEW

Kaiter Enless. Defamation Factory: The Sordid History of the Anti-Defamation League. Reconquista Press, 2018.

By Tomislav Sunic

There is such a huge literature on Jews that it makes one wonder whether it is necessary at all to add more books on this subject. For the most part, the literature on Jews, at least as far as our postmodern discourse is concerned, depicts them as eternal victims of irrational prejudice by non-Jews. Hence, Jewish victimhood—either real or surreal—must now be projected worldwide as an educational tool for preordaining Jews as moral pillars of all of humanity.

In addition, these perpetual victims must be appointed to serve as the conscience of always aggressive and unpredictable Gentiles. Even the literature critical or hostile to Jews, which as a rule carries the label, "anti-Semitic," plays an important role in bolstering Jewish identity. Were there no more anti-Semites around, it is questionable how much longer Jewish identity would survive. Likewise, if all present anti-Semites were to disappear for good, a new brand of anti-Semitism would likely need to be invented.

In Defamation Factory, Keiter Enless focuses on the power and tactics of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL), but also discusses Jewish psychology. He explains a specific Jewish binary behavior: constant fear of sudden anti-Jewish outbursts on the one hand, and, on the other, the obsessive Jewish quest to suppress their critics, whom they label "anti-Semites." One merit of this book is that its author delves into semantic distortions used in the ADL discourse on potential or purported critics of Jews. While it is today acceptable to talk in general about "German crime," or "Russian crime," or "American crime" without criminalizing the entire German, Russian or American nation, the same generic usage of the word "Jew," let alone the verbal construct "Jewish crime," is unacceptable and even, as is the case in modern Europe today, subject to criminal sanctions.

The substantive "Jew," even when used in a neutral political context, must be avoided. It should not come as a surprise that even the short, high-pitched English phoneme "Jew" /dʒu:/ is getting more and more replaced by a somewhat attenuated low-pitched adjective consisting of the two English syllables “Jew-ish,” thought to be able to offer some safe haven to a writer venturing into critical comments on some aspects of Jewish behavior — albeit always on guard not to cross the line, lest they get branded an “anti-Semite.”

Similar recourse to the adjectivization of the noun “Jew” is taking place in French and German speaking media and scholarship. Merely mentioning the German barrel-sounding and prolonged two-syllable noun “Jude” (“yoo-deh”) — no matter what the context — or the shrill French one-syllable noun “juif” /ʒɥif/, even if no Jew-bashing is intended, sounds disturbing in the ears of Jews. The intention is clearly to inhibit discussion of Jews at all, whether legitimate investigations of Jewish power and influence or the ravings of mentally deranged anti-Semites.

Keeping this in mind, it comes as no surprise that ever since its founding, the ADL has maintained a keen interest in having the last word in shaping public discourse— first in America, later in Europe. Having realized the power of words the early founding fathers of the Anti-Defamation League, decided to adorn themselves with this nice, abstract, flowery, and lachrymose title, thus providing a veneer of impartiality for public consumption. It avoided labeling itself with an earsplitting qualifier like “Jew” or “Jewish.”

The hypothetical, albeit more appropriate denomination i.e., “the Jewish Anti-Defamation League”, would barely have the same resonance of impartiality for Americans today. For readers who grew up in the former communist universe, the awesome similarities between the former communist newspeak in Eastern Europe and the present ADL newspeak in America cannot be overlooked.

Enless’ book offers a handy overview of ADL activities over the last century in America. This semi-secretive organization has managed, under cover of a humanitarian jargon and tolerance preaching, to cover up its own, often murky and criminal affairs. Enless’ book reads like a police report on a guilty suspect, yet the suspect never ever considers entering a guilty plea. Instead, the suspect deftly reroutes criminal charges against him by declaring himself a victim of hate. Thus, Leo Frank’s murder of Mary Phagan in Atlanta in 1913 and his subsequent lynching by an angry mob came served as an excellent test case that legitimized the future activities of the ADL.

Today, we take for granted the usage of the expression “hate speech,” as if this expression had been embedded in English and American literary and juridical baggage ever since the birth of the English language or the birth of Geoffrey Chaucer. It is often forgotten that this equally abstract, generic expression is of recent provenance, practically unknown in the modern English language until the end of the 1970s.

Nowadays, this newspeak expression “hate speech” is being mightily championed by the ADL and similar institutions promoting peace and racial tolerance. The expression “fighting against hate” has become a major battle cry of the ADL, also entering into the daily parlance of modern citizens and their politicians who seldom bother to examine the origin of this expression or the motives of its inventors. The author notes that “a world without hate...is after all, a phrase which the ADL liked so much that they had it trademarked.”

The book also sheds light on the verbal inversions carried out by the ADL and its non-Jewish minions and how their linguistic manipulations result in the inversion of political reality. Or to put it more academically, verbal inversion always leads to the reversal of a thesis. This is particularly true in the modern Western judiciary and scholarship which are becoming more and more inclined to arbitrary decision making, always ready to clamp down on free speech advocates by declaring every nonconformist thought offensive or criminal.

For instance, Henry Ford, the famous American car maker, who is also mentioned in the book, along with thousands of unnamed American activists, was also the subject of such thesis reversal. The ADL had initiated a smear campaign against Ford after Ford himself had first drawn attention to legal improprieties of the ADL.

The last chapter of the book leaves the reader holding his breath. The new viral world of the internet opens up new avenues of dissent for free speech advocates. It’s no surprise that the ADL is doing all it can to silence intellectual dissent in this new medium.

Censorship: The Left's Black Hole

By Valerie Protopapas

The news is filled with horror stories about so-called “hate speech” and the people guilty of this great crime against humanity. They are always given names: At one time they were called “birthers” or “truthers,” but now they are called “deniers,” as in “climate change deniers” or “holocaust deniers.” No matter what they are called, they represent a point of view that is unacceptable to our political class.

Interestingly enough, it really doesn't matter how well they can prove their case because facts are of little interest. All that matters is that the dogma of our political class is accepted and espoused at all times. Indeed, the more able “deniers” are to prove the legitimacy of their heretical point of view, the more viciously they are persecuted.

People have actually been imprisoned for questioning the accuracy of accounts of the Jewish “holocaust” that is said to have taken place during World War II. According to their claims, the Nazis murdered six million Jews in various pogroms and camps throughout Europe. Holocaust deniers reject that claim and allege different figures and scenarios. Interestingly enough, they don't say that no Jews were murdered, but that the six million figure generated by the Soviet NKVD may have been inflated in order to produce a specific agenda.

The point of this article is not the accuracy of either side in these matters. Were the “birthers” right or wrong about Obama's birth certificates? Are the “truthers” right about 9/11? Is climate change solely the result of human activity or are there other causes? Were six million Jews murdered by the Nazis? The real problem is not any of these questions.

The real problem is the fact that there are those who will not permit these questions to be asked, nor accept an answer contrary to the existing orthodoxy. Hence, those who question the acceptable narrative do not simply represent a “minority viewpoint” — although they are often a majority viewpoint — but because they represent an UNACCEPTABLE viewpoint that cannot be permitted expression!

This is a far cry from defending one's position based upon evidence, as in “climate change” or historical revisionism, but a demand that the establishment shut down unacceptable viewpoints by any means necessary including the law.

With the institutionalization of “political correctness” by Cultural Marxists, the concept of hate speech has morphed from a cultural rejection of actual “hateful” speech -- once protected by the First Amendment -- to the expression of any speech not acceptable to an increasingly arbitrary and capricious establishment dominated by leftists. As a result, we have witnessed the rise of increasingly severe censorship against ordinary conservative and libertarian posts by media giants such as Google, Facebook, Twitter and YouTube.

On the other hand, routinely crude and offensive messaging by the left is tacitly condoned, even as the most benign comments coming from the right experience censorship and their authors given no recourse or redress other than to abandon further involvement with the company.

The eventual result of this destruction of free discourse is the destruction of freedom itself, and may herald a society based upon a political-economic system that has proven to be the most murderous in human history. And still Americans sit back and hope for better days while we watch our liberties and our future disappearing into a black hole of censorship that we are not even permitted to publicly acknowledge.

Who Calls the Shots?

By Dr. A. H. Krieg

No matter how they are constituted, governments tend to structure their operations to maximize their influence over those governed. Big Corporations do the same thing to their customers: The larger the organization, the greater is the need for authoritative control. This is a universal law of social behavior, applicable to all, but also a great crime against the people's liberty.

The second "great law" is that influence over people -- whether citizens or customers -- implies a diminution of individual identity and economic freedom. Hence, we see the promotion of "identity politics" and the "group think" that accompanies it.

There is also an emphasis on the "collective," captured succinctly in the title of a Hillary Clinton propaganda effort, "It Takes a Village to Raise a Child." Those advocating collectivism like to argue that society has become so complicated, that appropriate choices are simply too complex for most individuals, and should be made by "experts."

This is the product of academics with small minds, most of whom are incapable of recognizing how individual success generates societal and economic progress. "Educrats" and other bureaucrats measure progress in terms of tenure, unionization, honoraria, bonuses and boring articles that few, if any, ever read. They understand nothing about entrepreneurship and market economics.

An alarming trend in this century is the organized efforts by large corporations to censor freedom of thought and liberty, as well as freedom of choice. In fact, large corporations have taken control of much of society previously vested in and left to government. The Censorship that was once exercised by religious institutions and government is now the purview of big business. Anyone thinking this is "progress" is sadly mistaken.

Religions are based on faith in universal truths, and to some extent most governments are influenced by the will of the people. Large corporations have few constraints on their activities, so long as they are financially successful and do not run afoul of the law.

The erosion of personal identity to encourage compliance tends to reduce humanity to the mentality of an insect colony through this enforced group behavior and thought.

Nowhere is this trend more obvious than in our language. Carefully chosen words become imbued with new meanings and are then continuously repeated to alter the public's understanding of reality. This is a subtle example of mass mind-control efforts -- engaged in by large media conglomerates -- that are designed to force collectivism on Western Societies, already weakened by "multi-culturalism."

By 2019, it has reached the point where individuals are obviously no longer in control of their thought processes, but simply parrot the propaganda to which they are relentlessly exposed.

This is the application of a Talmudic technique imposed upon Christian societies in relentless repetition. It has reached the point where one can discern the news source an individual patronizes by the opinions he espouses.

Today we live in a state, that is jointly controlled by multi-national corporations and the federal government. This is called corporatist fascism. As a society, we have surrendered to this system of governance.
