

Lazy N*ggers

Beyond its obvious unconstitutionality, most people probably object to race quotas because its beneficiaries are so often unable to do the work given them. Every employee of a large business or government agency has experienced surly black employees who are too lazy or too stupid to accomplish their job in a timely and professional manner.

For the last 50 years, this has been a big problem for both the private and public sectors, but at least now we know the REAL cause of the problem: it isn't that nigras are lazy, it's because "urgency is a White Supremacy Value." We have this on good authority from one particularly lazy niggress bureaucrat in the Oregon Health Authority, who failed to prepare herself adequately for a scheduled meeting with the public and other agencies over COVID vaccines.

Here's her e-mail to disappointed participants: "Thank you for your interest in attending the community conversation...We recognize that urgency is a white supremacy value that can get in the way of more intentional and thoughtful work, and we want to attend to this dynamic. Therefore, we will reach out at a later date to reschedule."

Lazy n*ggers and their white enablers have always been very creative at generating excuses for the endless shortcomings of most blacks, but at least now we know IT'S OUR FAULT! It turns out that this and a number of other, seemingly benign but widespread personality traits found among those who are not "persons of color" are indicative of white supremacy.

This implies that we whites and Asians are also at fault for their failure to pay their rent or debts on time, their cavalier attitude about reporting to their Parole Officers and their tardiness in showing up for work. For example, it was reported during the Obama Regime that graduates of historically-black colleges experienced nearly 100% default rates on their federally guaranteed student loans.

At least now we can rest assured that we are the ones who are actually at fault, and not those lazy n*ggers.
