

Out of El Paso

Out in the West Texas town of El Paso
Illegals were swamping this border town;
Welcomed by "Democrats" and by The Big Guy
Their goal was to bring the whole nation down.

Treason and evil, inspires these madmen
Welcoming Latin America here;
They wish to "transition" into Marxism
this lovely, free nation we hold most dear.

Out of the South emerged two great heroes
Unwilling to passively watch our demise;
Transporting busloads away from El Paso
DC's and New York's unwelcome surprise.

Those in The Vineyard were not happy either
When planeloads full of Latinos appeared;
Into their playground strode 50 illegals
Creating diversity that they've cheered.

"Democrats" may claim to love immigration
But no one offered the space that he has;
No room could be found, for these weary travelers
Such as Obama's eight bedrooms and baths.
