

They Wouldn't Listen

There's a great deal of poetic justice and no small amount of irony in the following news story. It involves a black-on-black shooting outside the graduation exercises of a Richmond, Virginia high school, in which a father and son were murdered immediately prior to the son's participation.

The incident occurred at Richmond's Huguenot High School graduation exercises, being held on the campus of Virginia Commonwealth University. The victims are 18 year-old Shawn Jackson and his 36 year-old stepfather, Renzo Smith. Five others were injured in the incident, which police believe resulted from an "ongoing dispute" between the usual black, teenage sociopaths, who understand nothing but violence.

The irony referred to is the fact that Richmond, Virginia was the second Capitol of the Confederacy, before the War of Yankee Invasion forced the Confederacy to relocate its Capitol to a third and final location in Danville, Virginia. There's also abundant irony in the name of the high school, because it's unlikely that even one of its black students in the last 30 years could adequately describe who my "Huguenot" ancestors were, and why they risked their lives immigrating from France to Virginia.

Fatal shootings by n*ggers at a high school graduation exercise are no longer surprising to those of us who refuse to read filtered news. Such incidents can occur at any gathering of blacks, even those with the purpose of celebrating birthdays, New Years Eve, Christmas, the MLK holiday, or the Fourth of July. They now occur routinely throughout the U.S., and are the primary reason why even liberal whites are fleeing areas with significant populations of black savages.

My Southern ancestors desperately tried to warn those Yankees about blacks, but few of them listened. Southern whites had infinitely greater experience with blacks, and were in a far better position to understand them and predict their behavior than sanctimonious Yankees. Now, even Yankees are experiencing the consequences of their self-righteous crusade to emancipate and empower the most violent, savage, witless and predatory race since Homo habilis.

Yankees are currently reaping the harvest they've sowed in New York City, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Detroit, Minneapolis, Chicago and Milwaukee. They must now endure the same savagery and witlessness from blacks that Southerners endured for hundreds of years.

My Southern ancestors tried to warn those Yankees, but they wouldn't listen. Their message is on the T-shirt of the deceased stepfather, above.
