

"Woke" Nightmares

Two courageous white women were fired from their jobs at LuluLemon in May because one tried to prevent some n*ggers from robbing their place of employment, while the other called the cops. The store is located in Atlanta and is designated the Peachtree Corners LuluLemon, just in case other members of the species Africanus criminalis are looking for an easy "lick."

The black baboons burst into the store wearing masks, then snatched as much merchandise as the greedy bastards could manage before fleeing from the store and dumping their loot in a getaway car. Then, for a brief moment the three returned and stood at the entrance scoping out the store and its employees before returning for more loot.

At this point the assistant manager, Jennifer Ferguson, courageously yelled at them, "No, no, no, you can march right back out." To this, one of the baboons replied "Chill, bitch. Shut your ass up."

The three monkey-apes are believed to have robbed the store on at least a dozen earlier occasions because the chain has a "zero tolerance" policy that prohibits employees from interfering with the many thieving black rat-monkeys who rob it. The Peachtree Corner LuluLemon might as well hang up a sign offering free merchandise to n*ggers.

While the two conscientious employees who stood up to the thieving apes were fired by the woke imbeciles who run LuluLemon, the good news is that Gwinnett County Police rounded up the black bastards soon after they were called by the second employee, Rachel Rogers. All three n*ggers have been charged with felony robbery.

The two fired employees were initially questioned by a Regional Manager of the chain, and were then fired without severance pay. They were told that it would look bad for an employee of LuluLemon to be calling police. What their employer really meant was the chain was terrified of antagonizing the n*ggers who run Atlanta by calling police to arrest and charge three of their own.

In a sane world, the two employees would receive raises, be given generous rewards and then honored at a dinner, but in this crazy world run by cowards, soulless MBAs and faggots, the two were fired. If it were my store, all three thieves would be in bags and on their way to the packing-house...
