

Futile Gestures

Certain funeral directors in Baltimore have seen so many young black murder victims in the last few years, they feel compelled to make a statement. Some have agreed to participate in a "hearse caravan" that calls for an end to black-on-black violence. According to one funeral director, their pithy message is this: "If you don't stop, you're gonna end up in the back of a hearse."

Participants in the hearse caravan believe many blacks in our large, urban areas have become desensitized to black violence, because so much of it takes place every day. They hope the image of a procession of hearses will provide a good dose of badly-needed reality to violent urban youth. Their "ride for peace" will be accompanied by police officials and local clergy.

"Ride for Peace"

One of the participating funeral directors stated: "It's not normal for somebody to be murdered at 18, 19, 22-years-old...I would much rather bury little old ladies, World War II veterans, and just lay them peacefully to rest, as opposed to hearing mothers cry." That's why he jumped at the idea of participating in the hearse caravan when it was first pitched to him.

Author Paul Kersey at the Unz Review asks the following question: "In a city where virtually every homicide and nonfatal shooting has a black suspect, why should we care about gun violence in Baltimore? The answer is we shouldn't. It has nothing to do with us. These embarrassing actions by funeral director's in 62% black Baltimore have nothing to do with white America, but speak volumes about the type of community black people create in the absence of whites."

Many blacks who routinely decry black-on-black-violence are often the same cretins who engage in jury nullification to benefit black criminal defendants. They also reelect city officials who promote "woke" criminal justice reforms -- such as defunding their police -- and reelect judges who waive bail and impose lenient sentences. In addition, they continue to elect George Soros-funded county prosecutors who refuse to indict anyone except innocent whites.

The epidemic of black violent crime in large, urban areas is a reflection of the incompetence and witlessness of black office-holders. None seem to realize that these endless demonstrations are futile, and the only way to reduce violent black crime in their disintegrating cities is HARSHER SENTENCING, HIGHER BAIL, MORE POLICE, LESS LENIENT PAROLE, and the election of SERIOUS PEOPLE to public office who will actually see such policies to fruition.

Paul Kersey is correct: why should we care about black-on-black violent crime? I sure as hell don't ! I figure each black-on-black murder rids us of at least one drug-dealer, the victim, and one violent criminal, if society is fortunate enough that the perp is apprehended and incarcerated for his crime.
