

Retail Deserts

Between 1999 and 2009, Target Stores preempted potential opposition to their efforts to locate a store in Harlem by wining and dining the city's elected officials and its black tribal "leaders." They groveled to black leaders nearly as much as they recently groveled to perverts with their "rainbow" promotions this past summer. Now, 10 years later, they are closing the Harlem store on October 21st, by which time Harlem's blacks and Puerto Ricans will have picked the place clean of everything but books and work boots.

At the time of its opening, Target's Harlem store was the single largest investment Target had made in any of its property acquisitions. Yet, it has been forced to close its doors due to employee theft and shoplifting by Harlem's denizens, a phenomenon that Sam Walton called "shrinkage." Its enormous expenditure on theft prevention measures were no match for the amoral instincts of Africanus criminalis.

Target Stores must be run by morons. Even people with a two-digit IQ could easily have predicted this outcome decades in advance. The criminality of this species will inevitably drive EVERY retail chain out of the "hood," because n*ggers can steal faster than retail stores can engage in theft prevention. Even locking up merchandise couldn't stop Target's losses.

When there aren't enough cops to deter crime, Africanus criminalis routinely exposes its true nature. Theft is in their DNA as surely as the instinct to run from police.

It's not white people, or structural racism, or white privilege that produce retail deserts, it's the criminality and staggeringly low conduct of a morally and mentally deficient race.

I sincerely believe this is a result of African tribal chiefs selling their thieves, sociopaths, murderers and bone-lazy tribal members to slave-traders, in order to be rid of them. 95 percent of the black population in this country share the DNA of those sociopaths that tribal chiefs sold into slavery, and their behavior has persisted for many generations.

As many wise men have observed, *you can take the n*gger out of the jungle, but you can't take the jungle out of the n*gger.* Now, their behavior is our problem. We should have picked our own cotton...
