

Credit Where Due

by Earl P. Holt III

To celebrate Black History Month -- more accurately labeled "Black History Minute" -- we have worked to rebut many myths surrounding the alleged invention of important technologies by black inventors. The vast majority of these claims arise from ignorance and delusion rather than historical fact. However, there ARE several innovations profoundly affecting society that ACTUALLY DID originate among blacks, and for which they are rarely given the appropriate credit.

So-called "crack" cocaine is one of these, an illegal drug that is smoked for a more intense and immediate high than snorting powder cocaine. Blacks invented crack to stretch the cocaine they illegally sell by "cutting" it with baking soda, so they can make more sales (and income) with the diluted product. However, if the product is cut too much -- so that its effects are diminished -- customers may become angered and retaliate by shooting the drug dealer who cheated them. This accounts for a lot of murders in those cesspools often referred to as "the hood."

Another invention attributable to blacks is the "drive-by shooting." This is a common occurrence in ghetto life, where a car filled with soulless black psychopaths drives by an enemy, a rival, or a competitor, and its occupants spray as many rounds at the target as possible to ensure that he's killed. One irony of drive-by shootings is that they usually result in killing everyone in the vicinity EXCEPT the intended target. Their victims are most often kids or old ladies who couldn't escape the hail of bullets.

Wearing "sagging pants" below your buttocks is a fashion statement invented by blacks, as well. In jail or prison, guards confiscate your shoelaces and belt, so it's difficult for others to strangle you like Jeffrey Epstein was. However, the practice makes your pants hang unusually low on your body. Flaunting one's buttocks outside one's pants is a signal to others that "I dun bin to prizzon, and I bees BAAAAAD." This fashion statement is also intended to show solidarity with fathers, uncles, brothers, friends and offspring who have also been to jail or to the "Big-House."

Where They Learn It

Another innovation by blacks is the art of driving without a Driver's License or liability insurance. This is an extremely common phenomenon in the hood, and can be found in most episodes of "Cops" or "On Patrol: Live." Ironically, while it's common for blacks to be without a valid license or insurance when stopped, they can almost always be counted on to possess a stolen car, dope, and an illegal handgun. This is a combination of offenses that one hilarious cop called "the trifecta."

Blacks also deserve credit for the multi-surnamed nuclear family, where everyone in the family has different last-names because the offspring of breeding welfare mamas are often sired by a variety of men. More than 90 percent of all "live, black births" that occur in our large, BLUE cities are illegitimate. This phenomenon creates a situation where "Father's Day" becomes a source of tremendous confusion to those in our inner-cities. ("When I needs one of 'em, I calls 'em by they lass names...")

Another innovation by blacks is the common practice of "borrowing" children from relatives or neighbors to camouflage their welfare fraud when a social worker is scheduled to visit. It occurs because black welfare mamas often claim an exaggerated number of offspring as dependents in order to garner more welfare benefits. During the visit, the kids are told to sit there and shut-up, which they do out of fear, and then are reunited with their real mothers as soon as the social worker leaves. (The scam falls apart if they feud, and then report each other's fraud to authorities.)

Another invention attributable to blacks is the industry consisting of "race-hustlers," who seize every opportunity -- real or fabricated -- to enrich themselves by exploiting some incident. Many are black ministers without piety, who often lack a degree, even one from a mail-order seminary. They are sometimes less familiar with The Bible than most of their parishioners, and often lack erudition as well as a diploma. For example, the Most Reverend Al Sharpton has yet to inform the world which seminary it was that he attended. Yet, REALLY stupid blacks, whose IQs are lower than their belt sizes, continue to follow this race-hustler anyway, as if he were the "Second Coming."

Blacks also deserve dubious credit for inventing a course of study that is most accurately labeled "Black Grievances." Blacks who have no business attending ANY institution beyond reform school or prison often adopt this course of study. The scam works like this: black instructors distribute blanket grades of "A" to keep the grade-point averages of black students above zero, and in return, instructors receive glowing evaluations from students. When the black dullards eventually drop out of school, or graduate with a meaningless degree, they immediately default on their federally-guaranteed student loans, forcing taxpayers to assume their debt.

A final invention of blacks is the credentialing of black ignoramuses with Doctorates. These individuals often possess less knowledge and erudition than the average white, junior high school student of 100 years ago. In addition to ludicrous doctorates in "Black Grievances," there are also a lot of black Ph.D.s in Education, who are some of the dumbest people you will ever meet. An official in the St. Louis Public Schools once told me that throughout the 1970s, the black Chairman of the Graduate Education Department at one of the local universities was SELLING Ph.D.s in Education for $20,000 apiece, and M.A.s in Education for $15,000. This may explain the proliferation of black morons with "doctorates" or other graduate degrees.

Clearly, blacks can be quite creative when it comes to criminal or anti-social behavior, so long as it doesn't require much effort on their part. On the other hand, the creativity of blacks is RARELY evident when it comes to innovations that actually benefit society. There, despite endless propaganda to the contrary, the historical record often stands in stark contrast to the mythologies they disseminate.
