

Suggested Trump Appointees

by Earl P. Holt III

The following consists of some extremely capable men and women who are among America's most loyal and heroic patriots, although many are unsung heroes despite their often-lengthy service. They are also team-players. A successful Trump administration will need team-players, not ambitious narcissists and self-promoters like Nikki Haley or Chris Christie.

It's imperative that when Trump staffs his administration, he ignores the recommendations of the donor class and its underlings like Mitch McConnell and his entourage. Let Trump's cabinet members have a say in choosing those with whom they wish to work, and who they personally know are committed to the cause of saving this nation from the party of Bolsheviks and organized crime families like the Clintons and Bidens.

Vice President: Vivek Ramaswamy. Since Kari Lake is running for U.S. Senator from Arizona, and Ron DeSantis doesn't want the job, as much as anyone, Vivek will continue the Trump Revolution beyond 2028. It is ESSENTIAL to avoid making the same kind of unforced error that Trump earlier made by nominating Mike Pence as his VP, or the same mistake The Gipper made when he let the GOP donor class choose the ineffectual George Bush Senior as his VP in 1980.)

Ramaswamy won't be content to preside over ceremonies welcoming foreign dignitaries, because he's a man of action and will usually be the smartest guy in any room. Assign him the responsibility of chairing a task force to reduce the federal budget to a manageable size. He can meet regularly with Trump's Budget Director and the Chairman or ranking member of each Senate and House committee to end inexcusable waste of tax monies in our fiscal hemorrhage. (After four years of Ramaswamy, Trump's successor will probably be able to cut income taxes across the board and still generate a surplus to help pay-down our National Debt.)

Mike Pompeo would be an excellent and loyal alternative. It's not very often that a West Point Valedictorian and HARVARD LAW REVIEW editor chooses public service over a very lucrative career in the private sector. This man is nearly unique, and should be cherished by the GOP.

Sec'y of State: Mike Pompeo, if he wants it.

Sec'y of Defense: Mike Pompeo, if he wants it.

Chief of Staff: Devin Nunes. This is an easy choice: smart, even-tempered, loyal, tough, and with a long history of working closely with a sometimes stubborn and difficult man. Nunes is a former Congressman and capably Chaired the House Intelligence Committee.

Vivek Ramaswamy, Mike Pompeo, and Devin Nunes

Attorney General: Joe diGenova. This is a brilliant man who has the unique ability to distill complicated legal issues into easily comprehensible soundbites. If Joe diGenova had been Trump's AG in 2017 -- instead of Jeff Sessions -- we would NOT be in the mess we're in. Those corrupt Obama officials who participated in Crossfire-Hurricane would be serving life sentences for treason. So would the Biden Family Crime Syndicate. So would Barack Hussein Obama, and so would that one-woman crime wave, Hillary Clinton.

DOJ General Counsel: Sol Wisenberg. Here's a very smart guy who does not appear to be particularly political, as many recent former General Counsels have often proved to be. Wisenberg may be familiar because he regularly appears as a guest on Laura Ingraham's show on Fox News. He's been battling in the trenches for years, and isn't someone who can be intimidated or influenced by the WASHINGTON POST or any other fake news organs.

FBI Director: Matt Whittaker. Give him carte blanche to de-weaponize the FBI, and let HIM choose his own subordinates. Give him the authority to fire every crook who participated in a politically-motivated arrest or search of Trump or his supporters, and bring charges where necessary. Replace the openings this creates with veteran municipal and state police officers who have outstanding records and are appalled at the incompetence and corruption found in their BLUE states or cities and want OUT! (Reinstate the China Initiative begun under Trump to surveil Chinese spies.)

FBI General Counsel: Brett Tolman. This is a very cool-headed former U.S. Attorney who has the toughness and loyalty necessary to deflect the inevitable feeding frenzies of the fake news industry following FBI reorganization. The dubious character of many previous individuals serving as General Counsel in important agencies cannot be allowed to persist during Trump's second term.

1927 Yankees: diGenova, Wisenberg, Whitaker, and Tolman

Budget Director: Ron DeSantis. Here's a guy who is not only fearless, he will relentlessly cut waste and fraud, and help return us to fiscal sanity. He has the brains, energy, experience and desire to do it. He just might be willing to accept such an appointment. (The era of "big-government Republicans" must end, and this guy could see that critical goal to fruition.)

Sec'y of Treasury: Monica Crowley. Smart, loyal, tough and fearless. (Larry Kudlow was a schmoozer: Crowley would be an activist.) She might begin by ending the tax-exempt status of all those non-governmental agencies that fund BLM, Antifa, and illegal alien invaders.

C.I.A.: Rick Grenell. No-nonsense, loyal and serious. Give him a license to clean out the Augean Stables into which our intel community has regressed. (If anyone resists reform, tell them to dial "T" for Trump.)

Without Mitch McConnell (RINO-KY) serving as Majority Leader, it should be easier to get extremely qualified and talented people confirmed by the Senate, who will ably serve the Trump Administration. I cannot imagine having a CIA that didn't welcome China experts Gordon Chang and Michael Pillsbury as analysts, especially in this day and age, and even if they don't always agree.

Bristling with Intelligence: Grennel, Pillsbury and Chang

The intel community sorely needs people like Fred Fleiss and Kash Patel, because it's been captured by traitors who are more sympathetic to Red China and Iran than to America. Those 51 former intel officers who lied about Hunter Biden's laptop being "Russian Disinformation" are just a hint at the rot below the surface. Similarly, Alexander Vindman in the National Security Counsel lied about the contents of Trump's phone call to Ukraine's President Zelenskyy, handing ammo to the commies and traitors who impeached Trump on fraudulent charges.

Sec'y of Energy: Rick Perry. He did a great job for Trump from 2017 through 2020. Under Perry, the U.S. achieved its hard-won energy independence for the first time since OPEC was formed in 1973. (Ruthlessly kill any program or policy that involves electric vehicles or green subsidies.)

Sec'y of Education: Kristi Noem may be serious about returning to her ranch, but if not, she could be someone who is willing to drain and chlorinate the cesspool accurately referred to as the Department of mis-Education. She will fight for school choice, not just sit on her ass and give it lip-service, which has been the case for decades.

If you want a Press Secretary who will battle the fake news industry, your gal is Tomi Lahren. She is smart, steely-eyed, tough as nails, doesn't pull any punches, and won't back down against any of the reptiles in the fake news media. She will probably be someone who relishes the battles ahead, and may actually get a chance to punch-out Jim Acosta, like Trump nearly did in 2018. (My money's on Tomi Lahren...)

An equally high priority for Trump will be the return of honest elections. Attorneys Stephen Miller and Christina Bobb would be marvelous additions to the Federal Election Commission. Both are very smart and very tough-minded.

Tomi Lahren, Stephen Miller, and Christina Bobb

Sec'y of Transportation: Anyone who will eliminate insane and counter-productive airline regulations and free the industry to become more efficient, reliable and profitable again. Also, someone who will see to it that the woeful condition of our nation's railroad tracks are replaced or repaired. (No more East Palestine, Ohio derailments of trains carrying dangerous chemicals.)

Sec'y of Interior: Someone who will fight the radical environmentalist movement, and will vow to relentlessly de-fund it and its "green lobby." Replace the EPA with real scientists, who can make recommendations to Congress, rather than impose draconian regulations at their whim. Expedite drilling leases for oil and gas on public lands.
