

Blacks: The Worst Racists

by Earl P. Holt III

I've written many times that blacks are the worst racists in the world. As evidence, I've described many notorious incidents of murder and assault committed against innocent Asian women, who were strangers minding their own business, but found themselves near a member of the species Africanus criminalis, and were killed or brutalized by them.

In each issue of the CITIZENS INFORMER, we usually include several examples of white women who are murdered by their black boyfriends or husbands. N*ggers seethe with jealousy toward whites and Asians because both of the latter are smarter and more successful than most blacks outside of professional sports. In particular, black women are pathologically jealous of attractive white women, because successful black men often find white women more appealing.

This niggress envy directed toward white women recently came to a head when Caitlyn Clark -- four time All-American on the University of Iowa Women's Basketball Team -- was snubbed by the racist idiots who selected the 2024 U.S. Women's Olympic Basketball Team. One particularly dull-witted niggress stated that she was pleased with the decision because she believes that Clark benefits from the beauty that accompanies white skin privilege.

Caitlyn Clark may be a lot of things, but a great beauty she is not: without makeup she's probably average when it comes to looks. However, what she does possess is the all-time Division I scoring record in college basketball, WOMEN OR MEN. Btw, that latter category includes Michael Jordan, Larry Bird, Bill Russell, Magic Johnson, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Bill Walton, Oscar Robertson, and Pete Maravich.

She is the Larry Bird of women's basketball, because of her incredible ability to find open teammates to pass to, which truly sets her apart from her black opponents and even her teammates. She has been called a "generational talent" by many, and has won every award and tribute that exists except a Darwin Award. (She was an Academic All-American, too.)

Two-Time Woman Athlete of the Year for 2023 & 2024

Like many stupid and childish notions they harbor, blacks seem to think they own basketball. Thus, Clark has often experienced racism from black opponents who engage in verbal slights and intentional fouls that approach assaults. Clark often finds herself the target of black bullies, just as many white kids experience at the hands of 19 year-old black freshmen who roll them for their lunch money at integrated high schools.

Larry Bird -- another white generational talent, who was the NBA's three-time MVP -- had many similar experiences. So did Christian Laettner, Duke University's white, superstar basketball player, who is as handsome as he was dominant while winning two NCAA Basketball Championships for Duke. Both were targets of jealous n*gger bullies.

The niggresses who are her most vocal critics are too stupid to recognize that Clark has dramatically increased interest in the professional Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA,) just as she earlier generated immense new interest in women's college basketball. New fans benefit everyone in the league and in the sport. The financial benefits from greater attendance and more televised viewership accrue to everyone associated with the WNBA and the sport of women's college basketball.

The pathological envy these niggresses feel toward Clark and other white "interlopers" undermines their own financial self-interests, but they're too stupid to realize it. They are too racist to recognize it, also.
