

Costs and Benefits

by Earl P. Holt III

President Trump's proposal that Canada become our 51st state has generated considerable discussion of its benefits, both serious and humorous. However, there doesn't seem to be much consideration of the potential downside to the U.S. from such a thing. We Americans need to do some serious soul-searching and ask ourselves, "Do we really want to admit these people as a 51st state? Don't we have enough problems already with disasters like California, Oregon, Washington, New York, Minnesota, and Illinois?"

It's hard to imagine anything worse than Joe Biden, but Canada elected Castro's bastard as its Prime Minister, a Marxist named Justin Trudeau. In fact, Canada has embraced more losers than MS-NBC. Any variation on another Trudeau would be every bit as incompetent and even more destructive than Joe Biden. We barely survived Biden as president, a pathological liar, thug and moron in a vegetative state: we should thank God for sparing Trump at Butler, Pennsylvania, count our blessings, and guard against any possibility that such a low-life as Biden might ever again ascend to the presidency.

Trudeau, Castro, Trudeau, Castro

I've heard most of the arguments of those in support: tariffs would disappear overnight, no nation could compete against us in ice hockey, and its northernmost regions would be an ideal location for Trump's "Golden Dome" to defend the North American Continent against enemy ICBM launches. Canada is also mineral-rich, lumber-rich, and oil-rich.

However, there are parts of Canada where elected and appointed officials are every bit as insane as America's most treasonous federal judges or Harvard Administrators. The judges in Ontario's Court of Appeals would be comfortable in a New York or California courtroom.

In late April of 2025, the Ontario Court of Appeals ruled that Ontario's Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) must fund the costs of surgery for a transgendered circus freak who sued to have a vagina surgically added to his repertoire of pre-existing male genitalia. The vaginoplasty would have to be performed in Texas because no one in Canada is doing them, so Ontario's government-sponsored health care program must now fund the cost of transportation as well as his surgery.

Oscar Wilde once declared that a second marriage is "the triumph of optimism over experience." A second set of genitals would have to be the triumph of mad-dog psychosis over the wisdom of the Hippocratic Oath.
