

Marxism & Infantilism

by Earl P. Holt III

For decades, various authors have theorized about why conservatives and our various Marxist enemies can look at identical situations, yet somehow reach opposite conclusions about them and then prescribe radically different solutions. Interestingly, some neuro-scientist or other will occasionally announce research indicating that the brains of political leftists and political conservatives process information differently.

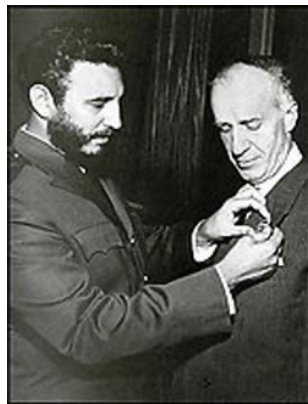

This does not surprise me in the least, and in fact, it comports with a similar observation I've made over the past 50 years or so, since I first became interested in how the influence of ideology compels people to view events through a specific lens. My conclusion? Leftists see the world very much as children do. In other words, Marxists fail to define social problems accurately because they are unwilling to objectively analyze and understand the world, so they invariably engage in the self-deception and prevarication that are characteristic of children.

In the 1950s, Leftist Jews in the psychiatric "profession" attempted to dismiss the fledgling conservative movement as originating from a mental disorder, which some labeled "The Authoritarian Personality Syndrome" in a book by that title. This diagnosis was later applied to anyone who noticed that blacks dominate violent crime statistics, or those who ridiculed feminist delusions, or anyone who happened to notice that members of the Communist Party of the USA (CPUSA) were almost exclusively Jewish.

This was similar to the technique favored by their ideological allies in the USSR, who sent tens of millions of innocent souls to their deaths in the Gulag for an equivalent condition known as "Anti-Soviet Behavior."

Of course, their slander conveniently dismissed the fact that every authoritarian regime in history has been the antithesis of the freedom-and-limited-government philosophy shared by every true conservative (or “Classical Liberal”) since the Enlightenment. Such distinctions always manage to elude the left, whether by design or otherwise.

Defining one’s politically-conservative enemies as mentally ill may have been a tactic designed to obscure the fact that America’s political left spent an inordinate amount of time and ink celebrating and defending some of the most vicious and totalitarian psychopaths on the planet, at least those who were avowedly and enthusiastically Marxist-Leninist. Stalin, Castro and Mao benefitted from the glowing PR efforts of Walter Duranty and Herbert Matthews of the NEW YORK TIMES (NYT,) and John Stewart Service in FDR's Treasury Department, in that order. (Stewart was a Soviet Agent whose codename was “Sachs.”)

Yet, if there's a universally defining characteristic of adulthood, it's the willingness to accept responsibility for the consequences of one’s own words and deeds. This implies the capacity to honestly acknowledge painful truths about oneself and one’s failings, rather than engage in flights of wishful thinking, fantasy, delusion, or excuse-mongering.

On the other hand, it's a definitive characteristic of children — even the many souls who remain so long after they've reached middle age -- to persist in blaming their failings on external forces that are illusory, more often than not. Not surprisingly, this is a feature shared by practically every core “demographic” on the left, particularly radical homosexuals, ghetto blacks, feminists and communists.

Because fake news IS the epicenter of Marxism in this country, it has been instrumental in helping to promote infantilism for more than 50 years. It has done so by engaging in disinformation through the spinning of fake news narratives, and by carefully “filtering” most of the news it disseminates to gullible consumers. This is done in an effort to deceive them and insulate them from any fact or event that might cause them to rethink their Marxist ideology.

Infantilism among the left is clearly promoted by the very ideology of Marxism -- to which all leftists subscribe -- whether they care to acknowledge this fact or not. Its dogma dictates that there is no such thing as objective “truth,” and that truth is defined as anything that furthers the socialist revolution they advocate and promote. Thus, lying and deceiving are perfectly acceptable. It was probably this phenomenon that inspired George Orwell's Animal Farm.

George Orwell and Various Editions of Animal Farm

As the “ideology of envy,” Marxism promotes infantilism in another manner, as well: its naive and gullible followers are indoctrinated with the dogma that anyone who has been more successful than they have been has somehow “exploited” others and achieved their successes by immoral or illegal means. Thus, they are therefore an enemy of society and the state.

Likewise, the entire Left reflexively parrots “institutionalized racism” for our violent, savage and predatory large, urban areas, which have become nearly ungovernable by day and demonstrably ungovernable by night. Violent and criminal behavior among blacks has become increasingly difficult to excuse away by their leftist enablers, defenders, and other architects of this disaster, allowing “white skin privilege” or some other excuse to explain the profound disparities between black violent crime rates and those of any other race.

However, whites do not force blacks to sleep through 12 years of expensive public schooling, while learning little or nothing. Nor do whites encourage blacks to bear multiple litters of illegitimate children at ever younger ages, choose drug-dealing over lawful work, opt for gun battles as an acceptable means of dispute settlement, nor encourage black males to adopt a life of crime—or black females to adopt a life of welfare—as acceptable “career paths.”

So-called “institutionalized racism” doesn’t even exist, and in fact, is a particularly absurd claim in a system where our leftist enemies have elevated blacks to a privileged status enjoying greater rights and immunities than the rest of the population. Like children, they tacitly acknowledge the problem while disavowing the obvious cause.

Feminists rebel against their own physiology by blaming “glass-ceilings,” “male chauvinism,” or “institutionalized gender discrimination” for the fact that there have been few female leaders of note, just as there have been few female inventors or geniuses of note. Most feminists subscribe to the ludicrous notion that “gender is a false construct,” and refuse to acknowledge the profound physiological and psychological differences that persist between males and females. These have been patently obvious to those not poisoned by Marxist Ideology for more than 6,000 years.

Homosexuals, likewise, feel they are entitled to special, privileged status—much like blacks and feminists—because of the discrimination they have allegedly experienced within civilized societies for 4,000 years. However, no other group defines itself on the basis of its sexual practices, deviant or otherwise. Moreover, one’s homosexuality remains unknown or uncertain unless one acknowledges the fact by “coming out of the closet.”

The sad truth is that normal people do not routinely engage in anonymous sex with legions of lusty strangers. If they did, most experts would label them mentally ill. Yet, several years ago, the powerful influence of the queer lobby forced psychiatry to remove homosexuality from the category of “Mental Disorders” in its Diagnostic and Statistical Manual V (DSM-5,) a sad triumph of politics over applied science.

While the homosexual lobby would have the public believe that “homophobia” arises spontaneously from bigotry and the darker side of man’s nature, it is actually the aberrant sexual practices of homosexuals, and their demand that we accept them on THEIR terms, that most often receive condemnation from Christians and traditional Jews. Being children, however, queers see themselves as innocent victims.

Recently, we observed both California Governor Gavin Newsom and L.A. Mayor Karen Bass alleged that the June demonstrations against ICE in L.A. were “peaceful” until President Trump called up the California

National Guard and the Marines. Miles of videotape footage exposed their lies and their failure to act decisively. That's what "Democrats" do: it was the same excuse they used after opening our southern border for four years and allowing 20 Million unvetted and illegal aliens to enter the U.S. between 2021 and 2025.

There are lots of Marxists, so there are also lots of infantile individuals around. We definitely have our work cut out for us if we are to avoid seeing our civilization destroyed by those who think and act as children do.
